

SEND SHEPHERD BACK TO JAIL

SMALL AVOIDS JOINING FIGHT ON DEVER PLAN

Three Ex-Mayors' Coup a Dud.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The scheme of ex-Mayors Thompson, Harrison, and Dunne and their subverted backers to have Gov. Small enter the Illinois commerce commission and the attorney general to supply material with which to attack the Dever transportation plan is not working out as expected, according to reports from Springfield last night.

Last Monday morning Gov. Small was quoted as saying: "I shall transmit the petition to Attorney General Carlsstrom and the Illinois commerce commission with a request that it be granted."

But when the governor acted yesterday he did not request that the petition be granted. He did not even ask the commerce commission to consider it.

Neither did he transmit it to the commission. The reason is rumored to be that Chairman Frank L. Smith of the commission has said that he is "handling the situation in the gentlest manner."

Gov. Small did transmit the petition to the attorney general, but he was not asked to give the legal opinion requested in the petition. The governor simply asked whether the statute permit any action by him or the commerce commission at this time.

The letter to Mr. Carlsstrom reads: "Mr. I have transmitted to you a communication forwarded to me and signed by Hon. Carter H. Harrison, Hon. William Hale Thompson, and Hon. Edward F. Dunne which is self-explanatory."

In view of the fact that the subject matter of this communication seems to involve my duties as governor, I have thought it advisable to ask that you give me your advice and opinion. My reason in writing you is to get your opinion as to whether or not the statute permits any action by me or by the Illinois commerce commission at this time.

"Yours very truly, LEN SMALL."

Wanted Early Reply.

The evident purpose of the ex-mayors and subverted backers was to get a report before the day of the referendum vote on the ordinance, April 7, Mr. Carlsstrom said in Springfield that the letter of the governor will be handed in the regular way in his department, but it is understood that the attorney general's office has a large number of legal business on hand and the reply may not be ready before the referendum.

With this may have the pride of the ex-mayors and subverted backers, it might reasonably be interpreted as an intimation to the ex-mayors to transmit the petition on its merits.

Statement by Harrison.

Mr. Harrison took the hint and issued his promised statement of his opposition to the Dever plan. In a word, Mr. Harrison objects to building a subway and instead urges a comprehensive system of subways.

The committee of engineers of the City club has a detailed analysis of the Harrison statement yesterday afternoon and the ideas contained in the Harrison plan and subway commission report, some of which the City club members may have been discarded by the engineering profession since 1912.

The commission recommended a "comprehensive subway system" of 151 miles, which the City club engineers will now cost, with equipment, $100,000,000. They pointed out that the Dever plan the city will get 100 miles of the present elevated lines, 100 miles of elevated extensions, and 100 miles of subway in ten years.

The engineers assert that the Dever plan has conclusively proven that it is not a "comprehensive" system, but a "limited" system, and maintained that it would be obtained and maintained in a limited line in subways.

All Subway Plans Costly.

The City club engineers eliminated the present "L" lines, leaving only a few rapid transit facilities in the period of construction. They estimated the cost of these at $100,000,000. If the Harrison idea is adopted on page 6, column 4.

HATCHING TIME

VICTIM TURNS ON PICKPOCKET AND FLAILS HIM

Whatever the judge does to him today will be as mild as a bedtime story to what his intended victim did last night to John Ryan, 4038 Sheridan road, locked up by Sheffield avenue police as a pickpocket.

Louis Fields, an insurance man living at the Stratford hotel, mingled with a throng watching an auto accident argument at Buena avenue and Broadway. He felt a hand in his pocket, clutching his $250. Fields grabbed the hand, and then the man. It was Ryan.

Fields is the antithesis of Jack Dempsey, and his ringlike weight is 135 with his heavy overcoat, but he literally beat Ryan for two blocks up Sheridan road. And it took 600 spectators to tear his prey from the infuriated insurance agent. Finally Patrolman Frank McDermott untangled them, heard Fields' story, dispersed the mob, and locked up Ryan, bleeding and torn.

MISS VOGELSANG COMMITS SUICIDE IN HOTEL ROOM

Unnerved by ill health, Miss Mabel Vogelsang, about 40 years old and daughter of the late John Z. Vogelsang, restaurateur, ended her life yesterday afternoon in her room at the Rialto hotel by taking an overdose of an opiate.

The body was discovered by her brother, John A. Vogelsang. Relatives said she had been ill for some time. Miss Vogelsang's father was one of the most noted restaurant keepers in the country until two years before his death in 1911. At his tables at 177 West Madison street nightly gathered the greatest civic, political, and literary personages of the city.

"There is $1,500 in it for you and $1,500 for some one else," was the way the matter was put up to me," Mr. Coath said. "I explained to the man that if he wanted to get the order the best way to do it was to reduce his bid by $1,500 and he would be certain of obtaining it."

As there was agreement among the bidders to quote the same prices. Three firms were low bidders for the order—all quoting the same figure, $13,360—and the order was awarded by drawing lots. The firm Mitchell said he represented was the best bidder, with $13,360. The next two in line offered $13,360. Trustee Coath asserted he believed there had been collusion among supply houses seeking board business.

At the suggestion of John E. Ryman, business manager of the board, the board appointed the buildings committee to investigate the charges.

Delay on Teachers' Councils.

Adoption of Supt. McAndrew's new teachers' councils was postponed by the board, as the McAndrew faction was not in a majority yesterday. The superintendent's measure could muster only four votes at the most and the project was deferred at the request of Mrs. David Gregg, a trustee.

Contracts were awarded for the erection of a sixteen classroom addition to the Morgan Park High school. The addition will also have gymnasium, an assembly hall, pool and special rooms.

The Tribune's phone number for all departments remains CEdtral 0100.

OFFERED BRIBE, COATH CHARGES

School Board Member Hits Supply Man.

Charges were made on the floor of the board of education yesterday by Trustee J. Lewis Coath that he had been offered a $1,500 bribe for approving an order for drawing supplies which totaled some $13,360.

An additional $1,500 was to be distributed elsewhere among board officials to secure the order, Coath declared.

Coath named a supply salesman, J. Lewis Coath, who represented an eastern manufacturer, and asserted that the man had offered him $1,500 to approve an order for $1,500 in the form of a bribe.

BOTTLE "GAS" OF RADIUM USED TO TREAT CANCER

[Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.] LONDON, March 25.—The discovery of a new process which is expected to have the most important results in the treatment of cancer and other diseases in which radium is used was discussed at a meeting at Middlesex hospital today. This discovery consists of capturing emanations from radium, purifying and condensing them, and bottling them in tiny glass tubes the thickness of a human hair. This radium is called rado. After an exhaustive trial the Middlesex hospital is now able to supply tubes to other hospitals. It asks that others capture radium gas which would otherwise be wasted. It is now possible to multiply the curative value of any given quantity of radium thousands of times.

44 NAVY GUNS FAIL TO HIT A SINGLE PLANE

Targets Safe Above Thundering Fleet.

San Pedro, Cal., March 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Forty-four anti-aircraft guns on eleven dreadnaughts in twenty rounds of firing during force practice today, failed to hit the eight sleeve targets towed by airplanes at about 6,000 feet altitude, according to officers of the U. S. S. Arctostook, airplane tender.

Lieutenant Commander James H. Strong of the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet said:

"They missed the targets, but nearly hit a couple of our airplanes that were towing them."

The staff of Admiral S. N. S. Robinson, aboard the flagship California, in response to a request for information as to results of the anti-aircraft fire, reported that no information was available.

Fleet Loses Its Might.

Aboard U. S. S. Concord, off San Pedro, Cal., March 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The mighty voice of the main naval battle power of the Nation roared out over the Pacific ocean seventy miles off shore today in the greatest gunnery fire ever witnessed at sea. For six minutes eleven dreadnaughts loomed more than 600 tons of steel amid a belching of fire and inferno of noise in atomic force practice.

Annihilation of the "enemy" fleet represented by targets was complete, according to observers.

But the spitting barrage of 440 shrapnel shells from the forty-four anti-aircraft rifles of the dreadnaughts failed to find a mark in the sleeve targets towed by airplanes.

Torpedoes Break Battle Line.

The battle line was twisted and disrupted several times by the flock of torpedoes loosed by nineteen destroyers representing the enemy, and one of the dreadnaughts was forced to turn around completely to evade the submarine weapons.

More than forty aircraft participated with the eleven battleships, seven scout cruisers, thirty-eight destroyers, and aircraft carrier Langley in the combat forces.

The Colorado, Tennessee, and Maryland, with their great 16 inch rifles, were leading the column in line, followed by the California, flagship of the fleet, and the other dreadnaughts, Mississippi, Idaho, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Oklahoma, Nevada, and Wyoming. Then came the scout cruisers Richmond, Raleigh, Detroit, Marblehead, Cincinnati, and Trenton.

Flames Wrap Roaring Guns.

A burst of flame enveloping the whole column was the first warning that the command "commence firing" had been given. The flames from the muzzles of the sixteen inch rifles enveloped each dreadnaught, and clouds of smoke blanketed the line. Far to the east, great geysers arose in front and back of the targets as the shells fell through and around them.

The action seemed to last hours, but it was found by checkers to be but six minutes between the time firing was commenced at 10:25 and the time it ended. The actual results of the firing are secrets of the navy department but it was certain, officers said, that the enemy fleet, represented by the targets, was annihilated by the steel sent on them from a distance of ten miles.

Judge Kersten DARES COURT AID TO FISTIC BATTLE

Judge George Kersten, unnerved by a recent illness, his friends say, yesterday drove a court clerk from his criminal court room, profanity his weapon, after he had challenged the clerk to personal combat.

Assistant state's attorneys kept the aged jurist from his victim, Charles Nielus, who rushed out to enter a complaint with Chief Justice Hopkins.

The chief justice was busy in the William D. Shepherd case and didn't see him at the time.

Judge Kersten had been ill for many months and recently had a bitter altercation with an attorney in his court.

Liquor Worth $3,000,000 GOES INTO GUTTER

United States Marshal Palmer E. Anderson and a corps of deputies yesterday started on the task of destroying the major portion of the $3,000,000 liquor hoard that has been accumulating at the government warehouse, Pershing road and Wood street, since the advent of prohibition in 1920.

Among the first items to gurgled down the specially constructed hose sink were fifty barrels of imported red wine.

Fire DESTROYS WAR BARRACKS AT CAMP TAYLOR

Louisville, Ky., March 25.—Two blocks of barracks at Camp Taylor, one of the country's large mobilization camps during the world war, situated about five miles from here, were burning fiercely early this morning, the Louisville Herald says today.

Causes of the fire is not known. Two civilians living on the site are reported to have been severely burned. No soldiers are stationed at the camp now.

Tribune Plan Insurance Has Carlstrom OK

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Attorney General Carlstrom submitted an opinion to the state insurance department today in which he stated that all Tribune-Federal Life travel accident policies that have been issued are "good and valid contracts of insurance in the hands of the insured."

He informed the insurance department that it had "no power or authority to cause the surrender and cancellation of paid policies."

Such surrender and cancellation was demanded recently by L. R. Brooks, promotion manager of the Hearst morning paper in Chicago, in a complaint filed at Springfield.

The attorney general further holds that the contention of the Hearst paper that the policies are illegal because they are issued only to readers of the Tribune and discriminate in favor of such readers is not good.

"In this," says the opinion, "there is no discrimination under section 11 of the act."

Must Show Trib Consideration.

The attorney general holds that all policies issued in the future must specify, in addition to the $1 consideration paid by the insured, the consideration paid by the Tribune to the Federal Life Insurance company to enable it to issue such a broad protective policy for the extraordinarily low premium of $1.

The policies already issued contain this language:

"And other good and valuable consideration paid by the Tribune company."

The attorney general says:

"It is necessary, therefore, to express the entire consideration paid for the policy, including the service rendered by the Tribune company, the value of which service must be determined and expressed."

The Tribune stands ready to make such a change in the phraseology of new policies if the state insurance department makes a ruling in conformity with this opinion.

The considerations referred to are advertising, securing of policy holders, and cost of issuance of policies.

Similar Ruling for Hearst Paper.

The Hearst morning paper is subject to a similar ruling under this opinion, for it has been selling insurance policies plus subscriptions for a year, advertising such policies and obtaining the sales by sending out solicitors from door to door.

The Tribune has assumed that such custom had been established for newspaper policies, as many have been sold in this way in other cities.

The way the Tribune method varied from the others was that it required no subscription to this newspaper and gave a better policy at a lower price than any other newspaper in the country.

...tunity, and the evidence, whether circumstantial or not.

It appears the deceased, Billy McClinton, was a ward of the defendant's wife. They had the rearing of that boy from his tender age of 4 to manhood, that boy who had inherited a large fortune, a considerable fortune even in these days of fabulous fortunes. McClinton when of age would come into control of that fortune.

McClinton had engaged himself to be married. Some few days before his death the marriage license was taken out.

I suppose such facts as well as that the defendant was the beneficiary impelled his counsel to admit a possible motive and opportunity. Of course, no man can be convicted on showing of motive alone or on showing of motive and opportunity alone. Whether or not the proof is evident and the presumption great is a question of fact.

Effect of Indictment.

I agree with the state's attorney that guilt is to be presumed by the return of the indictment by the grand jury; but that the presumption as to the case in most presumptions is a rebuttable presumption. It may be disproved, but to be disproved it is necessary to present evidence so that the presumption may be overwhelmed.

Counsel for the defense has seen fit to tender only witnesses who testified before the grand jury. We probably all agree that the grand jury returned the indictment on the testimony of Faiman. Faiman testified here.

Faiman said he had a number of conferences with Shepherd, and that these conferences related to the subject and study of bacteriology. Shepherd wanted to know the subject and Faiman taught it to him out of his own knowledge. Shepherd wanted to know how to develop germs or bacilli known as typhoid fever germs.

His Domestic Affairs.

Later on, the question of Shepherd's domestic affairs was discussed. Faiman testified the defendant told him McClinton was a ward of his wife and about to come of age, that he had a large fortune and a will had been made with the defendant as beneficiary in case of the death of McClinton.

It develops, by the conversation as testified to, the defendant inquired as to the use and effect of inoculating a human body with bacteria or fever germs, and that he was instructed, and that after some time inquiry was made as to the progress of the disease.

"If Faiman's testimony is to be believed, if it is credible, there is evidence of murder in this case."

I doubt very much if, for the purposes of this hearing, the court should be called upon to pass on the credibility of Faiman's testimony. If it were so improbable, or so fantastic that no mind could take it to be true, if it were of such force and character that a cautious and unbiased mind could not accept it, that would be different.

"If I were able to say it is fantastic, unbelievable, incredible, preposterous, I would be called upon to say the defendant is entitled to bail."

"If it is true, Shepherd and Faiman entered into an inconceivably diabolical conspiracy and cruelly executed for the murder of this boy."

If Story Is Untrue.

"If Faiman's story is untrue the defendant is the subject of a monstrous injustice. He has been ensnared in a net of circumstances and coincidences unprecedented and painful to contemplate."

Counsel argues Faiman is an accomplice. I agree, if his story is true. The law says we must carefully scrutinize the testimony of an accomplice and regard it with grave suspicion.

"Yet I gravely doubt whether or not it is the duty of the court to invade the province of a jury and say the testimony of Faiman is discredited."

"The most serious question in this defendant is assurance of a speedy trial if he wishes it, but under the circumstances I am compelled to find that bail is denied."

Stewart to Appeal.

Attorney Stewart at once announced that he would go to the Supreme Court with a writ of habeas corpus to obtain bail for Shepherd. State's Attorney Crowe informed the court he would seek to make an agreement with Attorney Stewart as to the date of arraignment of Shepherd.

Shepherd was returned to the county jail where he has been a prisoner since March 13. He has been kept in cell 13 in the receiving department because of the possibility of early release. To that cell he was taken by the two guards who have brought him to and from court each day during the hearing.

"Well, boys, I bet out; I guess I'll be with you a long time," Shepherd said to Gus Bergland, receiving clerk.

Chief Clerk Walter Woers said that for the night Shepherd would remain in cell No. 13 and that today Assistant Warden Fred Straubman would decide whether to transfer him to murderer's row. As a reason why he might not be transferred there the jail attaches said Shepherd is of mature years and most of the prisoners in the row are youths or young men and it is feared Shepherd would be subjected to abuse, insults, and perhaps physical abuse.

In his present cell Shepherd has been retiring about 9 o'clock every night and sleeping soundly until morning, though the lights in the receiving department are not put out till midnight. In court during the long session of arguments Shepherd often conferred

STEARNS, COOLIDGE FRIENDS, SAIL TODAY ON EUROPEAN JAUNT

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Frank W. Stearns, Boston merchant and close personal friend of President Coolidge, will depart tomorrow for a spring trip through France and Italy with his wife.

His present plans call for a tour of indeterminate length, but he will be back in time to welcome President Coolidge to the delights of Swampscott, Mass.

Should the President decide to accept his invitation to spend the hot months of the summer there instead of in the White House.

Because he is known in Washington as the President's closest associate, Mr. Stearns' trip has attracted much attention in the diplomatic set, but he insisted today that it had nothing to do with international politics.

With his younger, Stewart, and several times he sailed when he again faced the judge. He was noticeably uneasy when State's Attorney Crowe was delivering the "dangerous argument."

Mr. Crowe stood at Shepherd's left side as he denounced him. Shepherd was seated in front of the two jail guards, to the left of a narrow passageway to the judge's bench. Attorney Stewart sat opposite Shepherd, to the right of the aisle. When the prosecutor was demanding that Shepherd be kept in a cell he stood in the aisle.

Crowe Faces Stewart.

His gestures caused his clenched fist frequently to hover over Shepherd's head. At times Mr. Crowe turned to Attorney Stewart and replied personally and pointedly to some of the contentions previously advanced by Stewart.

When Stewart made his closing plea he stood in the same place and his arm often wandered in a sort of paternal manner slightly above Shepherd's shoulder. He was obviously disappointed when the judge's decision was announced, but said he was in no way disheartened, that he felt confident he would be able to prove Shepherd innocent at the trial.

Prosecutor Sum's Up.

State's Attorney Crowe's summing up of the history of the case, as shown by the testimony, was as follows:

"Many years ago McClinton Sr., a man of great wealth, died. His wife was an intimate friend of the Shepherds."

"When she was a widow and Billy an orphan, the Shepherds moved into the McClinton home. Shortly after Mrs. McClinton died, the $100,000 became the property of little Billy, and he became a ward of the Shepherds."

"All during his young years he was in their absolute possession—since he was 6 years old. He was under their control and direction."

"The Shepherds lived on the fortune of Billy McClinton. They received $750 a month for his maintenance and their own maintenance. They were given other allowances."

Lived on Youth's Bounty.

"For sixteen years the Shepherds lived on Billy McClinton's bounty. Then a point was reached where Billy was approaching his majority and complete control over his fortune, his own person, his own conditions, and his own destiny."

"Living as the Shepherds were on McClinton for sixteen years, at a caprice of his his living might be taken from them. We find from the evidence produced by the defendant that six months before Billy McClinton's majority Shepherd was busy studying bacteriology."

"He wrote a letter. Two witnesses, neither impeached nor contradicted by any living person or fact, testified to the receipt of that letter. Your honor is bound to believe."

"Marchand visited Shepherd, and was questioned about a course in criminal bacteriology. A decent citizen, without murder in heart and brain,

BORAH CONFERS WITH COOLIDGE ON ARMS PARLEY

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Progress toward definite arrangements for another conference on the limitations of armaments was indicated today when President Coolidge summoned Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, to discuss the situation with him at the White House.

Senator Borah, it was learned, was directed toward the steps being taken toward an armament conference.

Borah Will Cooperate.

He expressed some doubt, however, as to the ultimate success that might attend such efforts, fearing that substantial results will not come through diplomatic representations, but only through a tremendous development of worldwide public sentiment.

While Senator Borah is not in complete accord with the President on all matters affecting foreign relations, it was indicated that he expects to cooperate in every way in the preparations for the meeting on armament.

President Coolidge. It was learned, however, that responses from other nations will be so favorable to permit holding the conference this fall.

Senator Borah, it is known, regards the attitude of France with respect to assurances of military security as one of the chief stumbling blocks. He doubts whether, under the circumstances, France can be induced to go very far.

Shepherd Learned in Law.

"When McClinton came of age he made a will which was drawn up by the defendant. It was in Shepherd's possession and Shepherd was learned in law. Practically all the vast estate was left to whom? To the man who drew the will and was becoming accustomed to the use of deadly germs."

"The lamb was fattened for the slaughter."

"Shepherd was in a position to take his life and profit by it. He had studied bacteriology. He had learned to administer germs."

"Faiman was versed in medicine, but not a licensed physician. Shepherd consulted Dr. Fiesberg. He said he wanted to know effect of certain poisons. 'I want to exhumate the body of a relative,' he said. 'I want to know what can be discovered on post mortem where certain poisons were used.'"

"Let me ask your honor, if I wanted a lawyer to join me in a criminal conspiracy, do you think I would go to an honored and respected member of the bar? There is no evidence here to discredit Faiman. Even if there were it would be evidence damning to Shepherd because if he hasn't a fine sense of ethics as the physicians of this town have he would be the kind of fellow Shepherd was meeting as a partner and he would confide in him and enlist his services and aid."

"Faiman said he gave the germs to Shepherd. What says he?"

"Billy made his will in favor of the defendant. The little lamb was in this Shepherd's custody. There was no immediate need of putting into effect the results of his study of bacteriology except one thing."

"Billy had met a lovely girl and had become engaged to marry her."

"Shepherd realized as a lawyer that if Billy married, his fortune was lost to him. Action was necessary before the marriage took place."

FIND M'CORMICK AT WORK IN HIS FATHER'S PLANT

Does Manual Labor in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—Worth a million dollars and living on the budget of $15 a week. Sometime heir to the great and far-flung International Harvester Co., and working in this organization as a day laborer wrestling 200 pound ingots of pig iron for nine hours a day.

That is how young McCormick, son of Harold F. and Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, and grandson of John D. Rockefeller. The day will come presumably when he will be one of the executives of the great paper works founded by his grandfather, Cyrus H. McCormick, but just now he is only a rather small cog in the vast machine.

The young millionaire was found in the International Harvester plant here today after Mrs. Pin Potter Stillman, wife of James Stillman, the banker, and mother of Baby Guy of Stillman fame, had visited him, meeting him at the gate as he came out in his grimy cap and overalls and carrying him away in her automobile.

At It for Six Weeks.

Young McCormick has been here for six weeks sweating and grunting gamely as he pushed truckloads of the heavy ingots around. He had been known among the workmen as "Mac" until Pin came to see him at the gate. That visit let the cat out of the bag.

"Fowler," Pin said, "Fowler, I couldn't just couldn't go on west to the Grand Canyon without stopping over to say hello."

"Yes that let the cat out, for now old Simon Leathy, the aged gate tender knew why this young man's face was so grimy and why he thought of Harold F. McCormick, somehow, when this young man passed him on his way in and out of the plant."

Dines With Mrs. Stillman.

The news soon trickled down to the newspaper offices and when they were interviewed both Fowler and Pin admitted they were glad to see each other, but added that the visit would probably be generally misconstrued.

"I knew that Fowler would be some one up here at the plant," Mrs. Stillman said. "I thought it my duty to come and see the boy. No doubt many people will comment about my being here, but I want it understood that I am a friend of his best friend, my son Bud (James). I am so pleased with Fowler that I am going to have Bud join him here."

"Last night Fowler and I had dinner together, and he told me he was getting a lot of valuable experience. But the poor boy was so tired that his lids were drooping as we talked. And his hands—O, my! Imagine, those hands that had never done anything harder than to hold a masher, doing that terrible work. They are all calloused now."

"Yes," added Fowler laughing, "look at these horny hands of toll." Then he said a bit proudly: "But believe me, I'm getting hardened to it. Six weeks and I can lift the heaviest casting in the place."

Then he said he had placed himself on the $15 a week budget, just enough to live on, and that he didn't know anything about the night life here in Milwaukee.

BORAH CONFERS WITH COOLIDGE ON ARMS PARLEY

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Progress toward definite arrangements for another conference on the limitations of armaments was indicated today when President Coolidge summoned Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, to discuss the situation with him at the White House.

Senator Borah, it was learned, was directed toward the steps being taken toward an armament conference.

Borah Will Cooperate.

He expressed some doubt, however, as to the ultimate success that might attend such efforts, fearing that substantial results will not come through diplomatic representations, but only through a tremendous development of worldwide public sentiment.

While Senator Borah is not in complete accord with the President on all matters affecting foreign relations, it was indicated that he expects to cooperate in every way in the preparations for the meeting on armament.

President Coolidge. It was learned, however, that responses from other nations will be so favorable to permit holding the conference this fall.

Senator Borah, it is known, regards the attitude of France with respect to assurances of military security as one of the chief stumbling blocks. He doubts whether, under the circumstances, France can be induced to go very far.

Shepherd Learned in Law.

"When McClinton came of age he made a will which was drawn up by the defendant. It was in Shepherd's possession and Shepherd was learned in law. Practically all the vast estate was left to whom? To the man who drew the will and was becoming accustomed to the use of deadly germs."

"The lamb was fattened for the slaughter."

"Shepherd was in a position to take his life and profit by it. He had studied bacteriology. He had learned to administer germs."

"Faiman was versed in medicine, but not a licensed physician. Shepherd consulted Dr. Fiesberg. He said he wanted to know effect of certain poisons. 'I want to exhumate the body of a relative,' he said. 'I want to know what can be discovered on post mortem where certain poisons were used.'"

"Let me ask your honor, if I wanted a lawyer to join me in a criminal conspiracy, do you think I would go to an honored and respected member of the bar? There is no evidence here to discredit Faiman. Even if there were it would be evidence damning to Shepherd because if he hasn't a fine sense of ethics as the physicians of this town have he would be the kind of fellow Shepherd was meeting as a partner and he would confide in him and enlist his services and aid."

WOMAN TELLS OF
JUDGE ENGLISH
IN MONEY SPLITSaw Bill Change Hands in Referee's Office, She Says

St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—[By Associated Press.]—The congressional investigation to determine whether a recommendation for impeachment should be made against Federal Judge George Washington English today produced additional testimony that tyranny and oppression marked his presence on the bench. The first allegations that he divided money with C. E. Thomas, whom he had appointed to lucrative positions also was testified to. A long list of witnesses, including Illinois county prosecutors and peace officers, exhausted available information of ill mannered, blasphemous, high handed actions they attributed to Judge English.

Calls Thomas' Stenographer.

To Mrs. Grace Thayer, former stenographer in Mr. Thomas' office when he was referee in bankruptcy, Prosecutor A. B. Dennis turned for the first testimony as to the alleged division of fees and emoluments of Thomas' office with Judge English.

He proved such a reluctant witness that the representative Earl Michener of Michigan termed her "one of the most hostile and unwilling witnesses I have ever seen."

His remark brought a reprimand from Representative William G. Boies of Iowa, chairman of the committee. "Speaking as chairman of this committee, I wish you would reserve your argument until we get on the floor of the house," Mr. Boies shot at Michener.

Remembers Money Split.

It was only after Mrs. Thayer had left the witness stand that she remembered an alleged money division between Judge English and Thomas and sought permission to return and tell about it.

Once while she was employed in Thomas' office, she said, two men entered the office and handed Thomas a large roll of bills. The money, she said, Thomas immediately divided with Judge English.

Woman Had Disappeared.

Mrs. Thayer disappeared for several days after she learned that she was to be a witness and at the opening of the hearing it was said, threats had caused her to leave St. Louis, where she now is employed.

Asked if some one had not told her she would be "bumped off" if she testified, she replied that such information had reached her.

Upon her first appearance in the witness chair Mrs. Thayer testified that frequently Thomas would telephone Judge English and that when the jurist arrived Thomas would give him unknown amounts of money. She said Judge English was in Thomas' office nearly every day.

Tells of Druggist's Case.

Representative Michener asked her what she had told Gladys B. Arnold, counsel for the chamber of commerce, about the case of Francis Skye, East St. Louis druggist sentenced to four months in jail. Thomas represented Skye before Judge English.

Mrs. Thayer said she had told Arnold that in Thomas' office it was the general understanding that a certain sum of money was paid to obtain the suspension of sentence by Judge English.

At the morning session three Illinois state attorneys, Charles F. Dew of Marion county, H. H. House of Washington county, and U. V. Murray of Clinton county, told of being called before Judge English on subpoenas during the rail shopmen's strike and accorried for alleged laxity in enforcing the law.

SEAMAN'S WIFE
WINS DUCHY FOR NOTED SOLDIER

[Copyright: 1923: By the New York Times.] LONDON, March 25.—The recognition today of Sir Edward Hamilton Seymour, the distinguished soldier, as successor to the Duchy of Somerset, by the committee on privileges of the house of lords, involves a romantic story. Sir Edward is a cousin of the late duke and his claim depended on the marriage of one of his ancestors, Col. Francis Seymour, with a seaman's widow, Leonora Hudson, in 1787.

The colonel late one night heard a beautiful girl screaming and struggling with two ruffianly sailors. He went to her rescue and had a hard time protecting himself from the sailor's knife attacks. The girl was the wife of one.

A year later the colonel and the girl in widow's weeds, her husband had died in Calcutta. The colonel married her in 1787. Other claimants tried to prove that Hudson did not die in Calcutta.

U. S. FLEET IN GRAND BATTLE MANEUVERS IN PACIFIC

Dashing in battle line at a speed of 20 1/2 miles an hour, the eleven dreadnaughts of America's sea forces rent the air seventy miles off San Pedro, Cal., in a mimic sea battle yesterday. It was a test of the naval force's effectiveness against an enemy fleet. In the photo the U. S. California is shown leading the fleet into San Diego harbor during the present maneuvers. MILLION READY
FOR RELIEF OF
STORM VICTIMSMayor's Fund at Goal;
Small Signs Bill.

Chicago's official tornado relief committee, after four days of actual work, yesterday reached its quota of $500,000 and spilled over some $35,000, according to William H. Dawes, chairman of the committee, who yesterday reported a total fund of $535,474.56 at the weekly luncheon of the Association of Commerce.

The Tinnitus Legion fund, at 5 o'clock last night had piled up $31,897.44.

Gov. Small, earlier in the afternoon, signed his name to the emergency legislation appropriating $500,000 for the victims in the tornado zone.

And from various local contributing groups in Chicago there was gathered up an estimated $150,000, according to the still incomplete figures.

Dawes Congratulates A. of C.

"We have done what we set out to do," Chairman Dawes yesterday told the Association of Commerce members as he congratulated that organization on the way it had functioned as the collecting agency for the mayor's committee.

"But that is no reason why we should now let down," he outlined the efficient work in the devastated zone to show the speedy way in which each Chicago dollar is translated into one hundred cents' worth of emergency relief and permanent reconstruction work.

About the same time Dr. William Allen Pusey, president of the American Medical association, was issuing a report based on the survey which Dr. Dean Lewis of Presbyterian hospital, and Dr. D. J. Davis of the University of Illinois Medical school have just finished, under his direction, in the storm area.

Situation Well in Hand.
"The result of the survey," Dr. Pusey reported stated, "indicates that the situation is well in hand and has been handled by the state organizations in control of medical affairs there and by the local physicians with resourcefulness and skill."

"They are entitled to every credit. From the medical standpoint, system was brought out of chaos as quickly as possible and now the care of the in-

$500,000 STATE AID
FOR STORM VICTIMS
STARTED ON ITS WAY

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—A legislative committee tonight lent its aid to the relief of tornado victims in southern Illinois.

A few minutes after Gov. Small signed the $500,000 emergency relief appropriation which was passed by the house today, Senator Sneed [Rep., Williamson] was on his way to start the committee's activities in the stricken areas.

Representative Johnson [Rep., Ford] was named chairman of the special legislative relief committee which was appointed today by Lieut. Gov. Sterling and Speaker Scholes. The committee includes these members: Senators Sneed, Meents [Rep., Iroquois], and Wilson [Rep., Perry], and Representatives Robbins [Rep., Henderson], Booth [Rep., Henry], and Hoff [Dem., De Witt].

The half million special appropriation will be spent by this committee as a part of the state's program for restoring the schools and leading other assistance to tornado victims.

Jured and sick is systematized and organized."

After commending the work of Col. Orr of the National Guard, Dr. Redden, director of Red Cross relief, and the entire Red Cross organization, Dr. Pusey points out that "there has been no epidemic; there is none existing, and there is none threatened."

Gifts of $1,000 or More.
Following are yesterday's contributions of $1,000 and over, made to the mayor's relief committee:

Medinah Temple of the Shriners last night voted $10,000 for immediate use in the stricken areas.

Chicago Legionnaires yesterday increased their tornado relief fund from $4,480.50 to $5,141.08.

HIP SING CHIEF TO SIGN PACT TO END TONG WAR

New York, March 25.—Ho Chun Hing, San Francisco, president of the Hip Sing tong, said this [Thursday] morning that he would go to China tomorrow afternoon with the intention of overcoming obstacles which have prevented the signing of a truce in the national tong war between the Hip Sing and the On Leongs.

The friendly attitude of the Hip Sing chief was regarded as a virtual guarantee that the strife which has taken a toll of lives in many cities, will be ended. The On Leongs had already agreed to sign a treaty drafted by a neutral peace committee, but until Ho Chun Hing's message was received the Hip Sing had remained aloof.

Ald. Meyering Indorsed
by Second Division Vets

Indorsement of Capt. William D. Meyering, wounded in the war and holder of the distinguished service cross, for reelection as alderman from the Eighth ward was made yesterday in resolutions adopted by the Second Division association. Meyering's work for disabled soldiers and his patriotic service during the war are cited.

STORM ORPHANS
REFUSED TO 113
CITY FAMILIES

C. V. Williams, director of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, 303 North Michigan avenue, yesterday announced that he had been compelled to deny the privilege of immediate adoption of "tornado orphans" to 113 Chicago families.

Mr. Williams, in explaining the situation, pointed out to the applicants that arrangements have been made with a number of families in Duquoin, Christopher and West Benton to provide temporary homes for needy homeless and supposedly orphan children.

This work is being carried on under the joint auspices of the society and the Red Cross. No child, Mr. Williams declares, will be permitted to leave the community, until every possible check up has been made on his parents, to determine whether they perished.

H. Newman, assistant superintendent, and Mrs. A. Bristol, special agent, left last night, for the tornado district to aid other agents of the Home and Aid society in caring for the children.

To each of the 113 couples who made application for an orphan for adoption, Mr. Williams sent a letter urging them to consider the adoption of children "from Chicago and vicinity who have passed through tragedy as great as this, of which the tornado children have been subjected."

COOLIDGE GIVES
WOODLOCK JOB
SENATE REFUSED

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Despite the senate's failure to confirm his nomination, President Coolidge today appointed Thomas F. Woodlock of New York to succeed Mark W. Feltus, resigned, as a member of the interstate commerce commission.

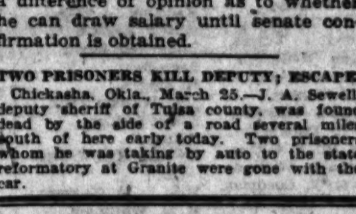

Immediately there were indications of a determined fight in the next session of congress to prevent confirmation. Senators Harris [D., Ia.], and Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], who with other Democrats have insisted that the senate is entitled to representation on the commission, announced they would oppose favorable action.

But the outlook is that the fight will be largely partisan.

Mr. Woodlock, who is a writer on financial subjects, can take over his new duties immediately, but there is a difference of opinion as to whether he can draw salary until senate confirmation is obtained.

Channah, Okla., March 25.—J. A. Sewell, deputy sheriff of Tulsa county, was found dead by the side of a road several miles east of here early today. Two prisoners whom he was taking by auto to the state reformatory at Granite were gone with the car.

TRIBUNE-LEGION STORM FUND NEARS $100,000

$91,897.44 NOW LISTED; GIFTS FOR DAY ARE $14,042

John V. Clinkin Praises Campaign.

Employees and employers, students and teachers, the suburbs and the city, the young and the old, yesterday maintained the standard set by previous contributors to this Tribune-Legion fund for the relief of victims in the tornado zone and piled up the dollars until they were but $8,000 or so short of an even $100,000.

Today's early mail is relied upon to bring in the necessary $10,000 to be exact, and more so generously in Chicago responding to the urgent call for immediate help.

More precisely, here is the record of the fund up to 6 o'clock last night: Previously acknowledged, $77,854.78 Yesterday's total, $14,042.66

Total, $91,897.44

John V. Clinkin yesterday sent a letter, together with a check for $25, to the fund. The letter says: "It was my privilege to command the 13th Infantry, A. E. F. Many of the men from my regiment came from the stricken district. I am deeply grateful to this Chicago Tribune and the people of Chicago for the prompt and generous assistance extended to the unfortunate people of southern Illinois.

"I enclosed find check covering my small donation to your fund. My only regret is that I am not financially able to make a substantial offering, but, like the 'widow's mite,' what I am giving is with a true spirit of helpfulness."

FUND CONTRIBUTIONS

CONTRIBUTIONS totaling $14,042.66 were received yesterday by The Tribune-Legion fund for the relief of storm sufferers. This brought the total of the fund to $91,897.44. Following is a list of yesterday's gifts:

OPTIMISM GAINS FOR EUROPEAN SECURITY TREATY

France and Britain Favor German Offer.

By SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
BERLIN, March 25.—Despite the nationalists' protests, the German foreign office began working at full steam today after M. DeMagerie, the French ambassador, called on Foreign Minister Stresemann to inform him that the negotiations among the allies have progressed so far that Premier Herriot is ready to consider the German official proposals for a security pact.

Germany today greeted the speech of Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign minister, before parliament last night with a sigh of relief. Only bare facts were cabled to Wilhelmstrasse, but these were sufficient to encourage the optimists to a belief that the negotiations are nearing success. Chancellor Luther and Herr Stresemann are among the optimists.

Half Pact as "Insanity."
The conservatives and nationalists, however, continued their attack against the "security pact as insanity," claiming that Germany would not receive anything for the sacrifice of its claims on the western border.

The Boersen Zeitung heads the opposition movement by warning Germany of the "new illusions" of those who believe the Rhineland will be freed if Germany signs the pact. The paper asserts the international political situation is bound to lead to a new war and declares Germany, being the only disarmed country in the world, would be bullied by warring nations as well as the league of nations.

"If the new Washington disarmament conference is called it will be as futile as the previous one," the paper says. "Every nation will find ways and means of continuing the race of armaments to guarantee its own safety."

Out to Get Chamberlain.
Speaking of Germany's position in the present mass of pacts, the Boersen Zeitung asserts that the league of nations will fail to protect Germany. Germany the same as it failed to protect Germany from France's invasion of the Ruhr, and the same as it is failing to protect Danzig from Polish incursions.

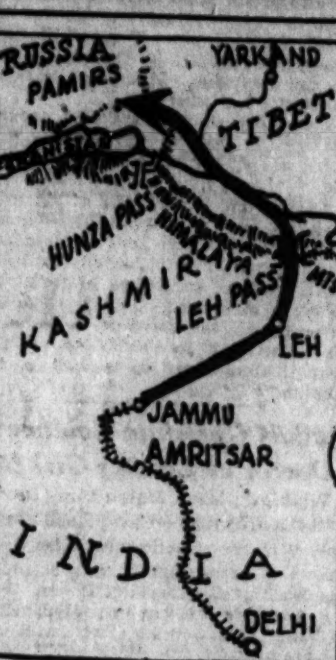

Germany, by signing the pact, ties fetters on its own hands," it adds. "The Laborites of England declared that they would undo Mr. Chamberlain's work as soon as they obtained power again. A similar tendency is found among the Germans. Dr. Stresemann's policy is impossible. He may obtain a paper document and paper guarantee. The reichstag, under pressure from the street, may recognize the pact, but it will remain a scrap of paper for our enemies—and in the long run for us, too."

Orders Envoys to Cooperate.
PARIS, March 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The French ambassador to Great Britain, M. de Fleurbaey, started back to London tonight with instructions to cooperate in any way possible with Austen Chamberlain and to ascertain whether, as the British secretary for foreign affairs put it in the house of commons yesterday, Germany's security offer is "sincere and honest."

Skepticism prevails on that point in French official circles, where it is pointed out that France's experience with the German republic, as well as with the empire, has been such that specifications of the guarantees will be required before the French can rely on the reich's signature.

It is admitted, however, that Mr. Chamberlain has taken the lead in the security discussion and that France must give full consideration to the German offer, as it is endorsed by the British cabinet.

TO DARKEST ASIA

This map shows the route which the James Simpson-Field museum expedition will take through the high tablelands of Pamirs. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, his brother, Kermit, and George K. Cherrill expect to obtain many rare specimens of Central Asian life. Permission to use the Leh pass route was obtained yesterday from the viceroy of India.

INDIA OPENS UP HEART OF ASIA FOR ROOSEVELTS

Gives Permit to Use Leh Pass to Pamirs.

LONDON, March 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Through the good offices of the Earl of Reading, viceroy of India, another route, through the Leh pass to the high Pamirs tableland, thence to Turkestan, is open to the James Simpson-Field museum expedition of Chicago for its pursuit this summer of the rare ovis poli and other game of the central Asian highlands. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, his brother, Kermit, and George K. Cherrill, will lead the party.

This route is even more hazardous than the one through the Hunza pass, which cannot be used by the American party this year, because all available native carriers have been engaged by a Swedish hunting expedition. The Indian government, however, will give Col. Roosevelt's party, which is being financed by James Simpson of Chicago, all possible assistance.

Trail Very Dangerous.
The Leh route is a dangerous and difficult trail through barren mountains.

The most difficult part of the trip will be the crossing of two passes at a height of 15,000 feet. Both generally are snow covered throughout the year, unmarked for long distances and there is great danger of avalanches.

The route as far as Askani usually is fairly good in the springtime, but from that point on there will be several days of hard traveling up across the Mustang pass, at a height of 14,719 feet, and down again to 8,000 feet, along the bed of the Yarkand river. This will bring the expedition to the Pamirs on the eastern side and opposite the entrance from the Hunza pass and into the district known as the Parion Pamir.

DUE HERE TODAY.
When Theodore Roosevelt Jr. comes to Chicago today for a visit of only four hours, he will be given an American flag by the members of the Adventurers' club, who, since they cannot accompany him on his trip into Turkestan, want him to carry a token of their wishes for good hunting. Mr. Roosevelt will spend all of his time in Chicago at the Field museum conferring with authorities on the trip of exploration into central Asia on which he and his brother Kermit will leave on April 11.

MAKE EXAMPLE OF PACE SETTER, COLLINS ORDERS

Chief Spurs Aids in the Drive on Speed.

By PHILIP KINSLEY.

Speed in excess of twenty miles an hour in the city is dangerous. The record of 700 killed in Cook county last year, the pace of the death clock this year, the uncounted thousands injured, not only prove that speed over this limit is dangerous but calls for an immediate agreement among the Municipal judges as to an interpretation of the speed law.

Get the pace setter on the boulevard and make an example of him. Book prisoners under section 516 of the state criminal code, which calls for a jail sentence when there is sufficient evidence.

These were among the suggestions that Chief of Police Collins made at a meeting of captains in his office yesterday, where the speed situation was discussed thoroughly.

Cooperation Needed.
While stating that the old racing section of the code might apply after a fashion in some cases, as suggested by Chief Justice Olson, Chief Collins said that this was not a panacea for the situation and insisted that, in order to make a real record in cutting down automobile deaths, there must be greater cooperation between police and courts.

At present, he pointed out, several of the judges hold that thirty or thirty-two miles is not dangerous driving.

Chief Collins admits that the police make too many arrests for automobile violations.

Catch Pace Setter.
While stating that no new drive was on, merely a renewal of the old drive against speed, he impressed his captains with the new idea of stopping the pace setter who keeps the whole line going too fast.

The situation which police and courts face is this: that the death clock at this period of the year is increasing 30 per cent over the same period last year.

In New York and suburbs the death clock shows an increase this year of only 5 per cent over last year.

Both police and judges admit that the ease with which motorists evade punishment is partly the cause of this. The "fixer" is responsible for a percentage of these deaths.

Loose Checking System.
Investigation in police stations and in the record rooms of the Municipal court clerk shows that there is an extremely loose system in checking on the capias cases.

There are about 325 automobile law violations a day. Probably half of these are dismissed. The estimate is made that 25,000 so-called warrant cases in which the defendant fails to appear in court and a warrant is supposedly issued for him are lost. A percentage of these must be attributed to false addresses, men who live out of town, etc. Others are called "capias" for public effect, and the capias never issued. Others are ordered issued and may never get out of the hands of the police warrant officer. Others are subject to manipulation by court clerks and bailiffs.

The Municipal courts have nothing to do with the serving of these papers. There is no record kept day by day in the judges' books of the unserved papers. They may pile up in the clerk's desk. At the end of a month they are all listed and the cases are probably dismissed for want of prosecution.

TWO KILLED AND SEVERAL HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Motor vehicles continued to take their toll of life and limb in Cook county yesterday when Abraham Feingold, 67, of 1416 South Sangamon street, and John Pitoni, 8, of 2114 Congress street, were fatally injured, and several other persons were injured.

Feingold died at the Oak Park hospital after being struck while at Des Plaines avenue and 18th street, Forest Park, by an automobile driven by Basil Maszka, 2157 West Chicago avenue.

The Pitoni boy was struck by an automobile driven by George H. Jones, 4949 Harrison street, who took his victim to the hospital, surrendered to the police, and was released.

Two men were injured, one perhaps fatally, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck on a grade crossing in Barrington by a locomotive. The men were identified as Peter Schmidt and John Leonhard of Chicago. They are at the Palestine hospital.

TRAVELING MEN OF CITY GUESTS AT FIRMS' DINNER

Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Union Trust company, was principal speaker last night at the first annual "get together" banquet tendered to traveling salesman by their firms under the auspices of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The banquet was held at the Furniture mart, the toastmaster being William H. Mann of Marshall Field & Co.

"Chicago must develop in her road salesmen, who are in effect Chicago's mouthpieces, an enthusiasm sufficiently keen to become contagious," said Mr. Wheeler.

Among the guests were representatives from every line of industry and trade within the Chicago district. The dinner was the first of a series to be tendered to salesmen.

MOVE TO REVISE ELECTION LAWS MADE IN HOUSE

Presidential Electors May Be Taken from Ballot.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—The first progress towards revision of Illinois' election code was made by the house elections committee today in recommending the passage of two bills. One would eliminate the names of presidential electors from the ballot. The other provides for the election of party state committees by the convention system. No action has been taken on the Flag bill for the entire abolition of the direct primary system.

An echo of the bitter fight between Gov. Small and former Attorney General Brundage was heard in the house today when the $115,500 appropriation for Attorney General Carlstrom was called up for passage by Chairman Curran of the appropriations committee.

Enlarges Sanitary District. Representative Springer (Rep., Winnetka) today presented a bill annexing Homewood and Hazelcrest to the Chicago sanitary district. The measure, he said, was requested by residents of the two communities and had been approved by the district trustees. Mr. Thon also presented a bill removing the age limit of 65 years on members of the Cook county jury commission. The measure is understood to be for the benefit of Commissioner Joseph H. Barnett, who is 65 years old and whose term expires July 1.

For Safety Research. Creation of a new division of safety research and statistics was proposed today when the department's $1,385,000 appropriation was approved by the house appropriations committee. The proposed purpose of the new branch is to work for the prevention of accidents in industries.

United States Senator William B. McKinley came to Springfield today to do some political fence patching in preparation for his campaign for re-nomination next year against State Chairman Frank L. Smith.

Discovers Loser of $2,700. Joan Patton, 22 years old, and on probation, reported to the probation officer the other day displaying a beautiful diamond ring. She refused to tell where she got it, and when the police were called in she swallowed the ring. At the county hospital a stomach pump was used to recover it. Policewoman Lulu Burt yesterday traced the ring to a State street jeweler, who said it was worth $2,700 and that it had been stolen a month ago.

SENTENCED TO SEE RUM POURED OUT. Pasquale Nuzzo and Giuseppe Domarranno thought they had experienced the worst of what they had done in Oak Park when they were arrested in their car. They learned the worst yesterday when Judge Frank McGee not only fined them a total of $250, but also made them watch the rum disappear down a sewer pipe.

Bills introduced—By Barr, to appropriate $2,000,000 to indemnify owners of tubercular cattle destroyed under the law; by Hansen, to establish license fee of $4,000 for every place of business where prizes, premiums and other trade inducements are offered.

HOUSE

Elections committee approves bills to eliminate presidential electors from ballot and permit election of state committees by convention system. Bills passed—$15,500 appropriation for Attorney General Carlstrom; $25,000 appropriation for monument to Negro troops. Bill designating Camp Logan rifle range on North Shore as state park; $4,180 appropriation for addition to Old Salem state park.

Bills advanced—A prohibition repeal bill and bill creating two new state departments.

CHICAGO'S TAX RATE EXTENDED BY COMMITTEE

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Without opposition the senate committee on license today approved the bill which would extend into perpetuity the present Chicago tax rate of $1.45.

The same committee had before it the Chicago city hall bill to authorize municipalities to license a long list of business enterprises over which the Supreme court recently ruled it had no jurisdiction under the cities and villages act. A hearing on the bill was set for two weeks from today.

Kill Sanitary District Probe.

Senator Daniel Webster's resolution for an investigation of the Chicago sanitary district was suppressed. So thorough was the suppression that when the vote was taken even the author failed to vote for the investigation. The executive committee, Senator Frederick B. Root, chairman, held a short session in which it was determined to recommend that the Webster resolution lie on the table.

When the committee action was presented to the senate, where ordinarily there would be no comment, Senator Barbour apparently could not resist the temptation to finish the job he started when the resolution was introduced.

Webster Explains Motives.

"A member of the sanitary district," he said, "recently received a letter requesting a donation of $50 toward a dinner for Senator Webster. He ignored the request and this resolution was the result. I want to say that conduct of this sort is almost worthy of expulsion from the senate."

Webster spoke briefly, saying that the resolution did not charge that any of the present members of the legislature are on the sanitary district pay roll and urged, as his motive, the assertion that the voters in the last primary election had "repudiated" the faction with which Senator Barbour is identified.

The senate adjourned until next week.

Assert Arrest of Two Solves $200,000 Truck Robberies

With the arrest last night of Emil Lohr, 4940 Grand boulevard, on a charge of robbery, and Abraham Kravitz, a fish dealer at 2243 West 16th street, as a receiver of stolen property, police believe they have solved auto truck lootings with a total thievery amounting to around $200,000.

SUBSTITUTE GUN TOTING BILL BARS ALL BUT OFFICERS

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—A substitute for all pending anti-gun totting bills was drafted tonight by a joint judiciary subcommittee of senate and house. The new bill repeals the Sadler act, authorizing the granting of permits for carrying guns. It provides that no person, other than constituted peace officers, shall carry a concealed weapon in Illinois. Penalties range from a fine of $300 to imprisonment for one year.

In the case of known gunmen and criminals, the penalty is increased to a maximum of ten years in prison. The bill, however, contains a qualifying clause which reads: "Nothing in this act shall ever be construed as depriving any citizen of the right to keep a firearm in his home or place of business for the necessity of the protection thereof."

It was pointed out that this qualification applies only to citizens of the United States. Dealers are required to keep a registry of all sales, including the name and address of purchaser and the make and number of all guns sold.

FOSTER ASKS JURY TRIAL. David Foster, said to be a stepson of William F. Foster, noted red leader, yesterday demanded a jury trial when he appeared before Judge Joseph L. McCarthy on charges of assault.

CHILDREN TO GET WINTERBOTHAM $900,000 ESTATE

Joseph H. Winterbotham, prominent Chicagoan and art patron, who died March 19, left an estate of $900,000, it was revealed yesterday when his will was presented in the court of Assistant Probate Judge Frederick W. Elliott.

Four children of Mr. Winterbotham received most of the estate, in approximately equal proportions. Two daughters, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, 700 Rush street, and Mrs. Genevieve Mason of New York City, will receive the income from trust funds established under the will. The two sons, John H. Winterbotham, 574 Rush street, and Joseph Winterbotham Jr. of New York, are to share the residuary estate.

Other trusts are created for the benefit of Mr. Winterbotham's grandchildren and other relatives. Charitable bequests to a score of philanthropic institutions aggregate $25,000. It was recalled that among Mr. Winterbotham's philanthropic gifts during his lifetime was a $60,000 gift to the Art Institute three years ago.

Mr. Winterbotham, who was president of the J. H. Winterbotham & Sons, coopers, at 8 South Dearborn street, died at Battle Creek, Mich., where he had gone for a rest.

CALLS FREEDOM OF PRESS PILLAR OF DEMOCRACY

Freedom of the press is the fundamental of democracy and no democracy can endure without it, Carl McGee, editor of the New Mexico State Tribune of Albuquerque, the man credited with having smashed Senator A. H. Fall's political ring in that state, said yesterday. He spoke at a luncheon at the Illinois Athletic club under the auspices of the Allied Newspapers, Inc.

At the request of Stuart A. Schuyler, vice president of the Allied Newspapers, Mr. McGee told something of the fight he made against the corrupt political rings of his state, how the politicians in control of the courts tried to send him to prison or drive him out of the newspaper business, how the people of his state came to his support in the uneven battle, enabling him to break one after the other of the political bosses until he had won the fight.

"They had six times led an editor up to the gates of the penitentiary and then made him promise to get out of business or go inside," Mr. McGee said. "They did it to me, but I beat them. I made up my mind that, stand or fall, I would fight that, and I fought and beat them in the end."

MOTHER KILLS SELF AND SON BY TAKING GAS

A sick woman killed herself and her little son yesterday, an aged husband and wife, grieving by the loss of their son, accomplished the aim of a suicide pact, an Indian insurance man ended his own life, and another man turned on the gas and died.

Mrs. Katherine Vollmer, 42 years old, 4105 West Madison street, had been ill for a long time. Early yesterday she folded her arms around Albert, 7 years old, and turned on the gas. When her husband returned from his night work both were dead. She left a note.

"Well, Al, I got it into my head I won't get better," it said. "I suffer too much. I woke up at 2 a. m. Forgive me, but I couldn't leave Albert. I must take him with me and I know God will forgive me. Good-by and good luck."

It's nine years since the son of Louis Dreuth, 63 years old, and his wife, Dina, 64, died beneath the wheels of a street car. But their grief never was assuaged by the passage of time.

Neighbors yesterday broke into the Dreuth flat at 3749 North Whipple street. The weary husband and wife were in their last sleep, every gas jet in the kitchen stove open.

Insurance Man Uses Gun.

John Randolph McIntosh, 24, and Indian and an insurance agent, to fire a bullet into his head yesterday at his home, 6233 Kimbark avenue. He left a note explaining the reason for his act.

FIND SPY NOT GUILTY.

John Spry, nephew of John C. Spry, military lumberman, yesterday was found not guilty in South's street court of receiving stolen property. Chester Sullivan, salesman for an electric company from which Spry bought radio supplies at half cost, was held to the grand jury.

$213,000 MORE DEMANDED OF FRED W. BURTON

Already loser by court decision of property valued at $460,000, Fred W. Burton, wealthy coal operator and sportsman, faces another court order to surrender one-half of a $445,000 judgment recently awarded him on a government war contract. It was revealed yesterday with the filing of documents before Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan.

James W. McElvain, the 33 year old farmer-coal mine owner, who charged Burton and his attorney, Macley Hoyne, former Democratic leader, with extortion by blackmail, and won back possession of his $350,000 coal mine, is the complainant who demands a $213,000 share of the war contract award.

Decree to Be Asked Today.

Attorney John J. Healy, counsel for McElvain, produced an amended bill supporting his client's claim. Evidence will be taken before Judge Sullivan today with a request for a decree winding up the entire matter.

Burton was found guilty by Judge Sullivan of having forced McElvain, by threats of imprisonment for life and of scandal and disgrace, to surrender his entire stock in the Freeman Coal Mining company. In defense Burton and Attorney Hoyne declared McElvain had cheated the former out of $12,000 and that the property was taken in exchange for the debt. Judge Sullivan, however, ordered its return.

Went in Court of Claims.
Since his decision the Court of Claims in Washington, D. C., has awarded Burton $445,000 damages for the government's failure to complete a contract for thousands of tons of coal. The Freeman Coal Mining company was a party to the contract, as was Burton's other company. So Attorney Healy argues that McElvain, as the proved owner of the Freeman company, is entitled to that company's share of the award.

WRANGLE OVER COURT COSTS OF DENNISTOUN CASE

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service]
LONDON, March 25.—Justice McCordie, with the counsels of the plaintiff and the defense, spent today trying to wind up the final technical angles in the Dennistoun case. The chief point was the question of awarding the court costs of the trial through judicial interpretation of the jury's findings yesterday.

Counsel Williams declared that his client, Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun, should not pay the immense amount of cash required, as it would bankrupt her. He said the costs should be paid by those instigating them.

The judge decided that Lieut. Col. Ian Dennistoun need not repay to his former wife a loan of £616 (about $3,000) made in 1912 because of the statute of limitations. The colonel manfully abandoned counter claims to furniture from his former wife's flat worth from $10,000 to $15,000.

"I don't want to touch a stick of it," declared the colonel, aggressively fingering the Carnarvon bank roll of millions of pounds sterling.

YOUNG FASHIONABLES MEET THE NEW SEASON ON THE JUNIOR FLOOR

Lunching in Henrici's

¶ As almost any physician would tell you, the fitful weather conditions of early Spring are rather trying upon the human system when sensible diet precautions are neglected.

¶ When sudden warmth alternates with chilly, damp weather it is wise to give thought to diet suiting the transition from winter to summer.

¶ But unless you have the cooperation of those who prepare the menus from which you select your daily fare you have little opportunity to dodge the lassitude and other ills that follow careless springtime diet.

Elmer Gets Kick Out of Ether Talks

Variety of Other Things Found by Dial Turns.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

There was something of almost everything last night, and everything heard was worth hearing. Talks of one kind or another held an unusually conspicuous position.

At 6:45 to rather early for any speaker to delve sufficiently deep in any subject to make much of an impression, but in spite of the hour and in spite of his cold, or because of it, Harry Davis in his bedtime story-talk for children from KYW grew decidedly philosophical and drew some interesting illustrations leading to a climax in the statement that "A thing may seem perfect, but if you look long enough and carefully enough, you will see that it could be improved upon."

If the writer appears to be unwarranted in any of his criticisms in the future, we now have Mr. Davis' aphorism to fall back upon in defense.

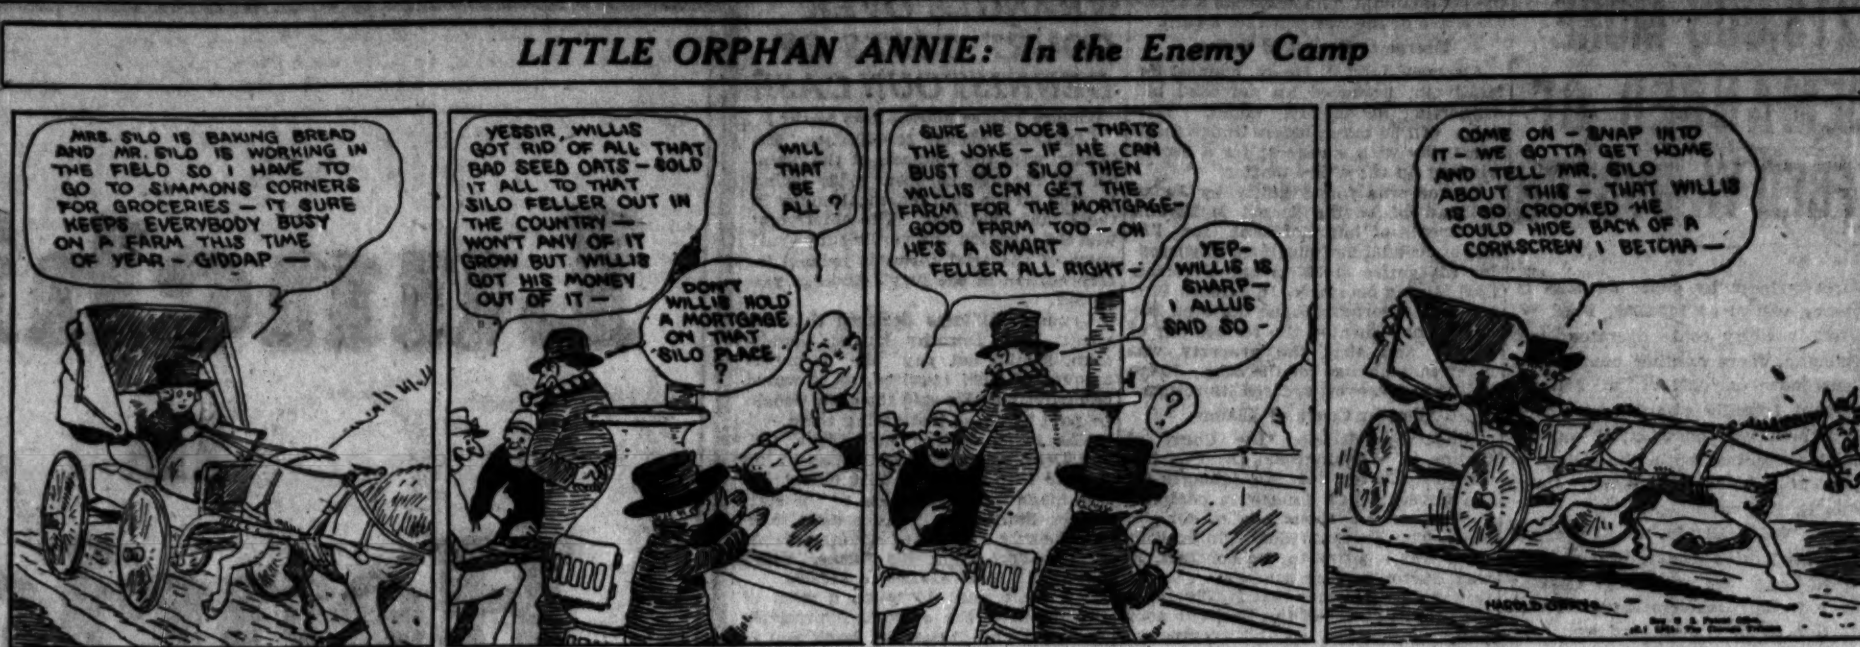

To KYW also at 8, where a soprano with the charming name of Miriam Chickering was making a unique appeal for attention on account of the springtime quality of her voice.

Also Frank Triboulet, tenor, who, while he was singing "I Hear a Thrush at Eve," held himself so much in dramatic restraint that I was wondering what would happen if he let himself loose. This he immediately proceeded to do in "Woman is Fickle" from "Hippolyte," and which dramatic aria he had a regular walk away. A tenor pleasing indeed to hear.

W-G-N's second radio interview was another pronounced success. This time Announcer Ryan had James Stephens, the Irish novelist, to deal with. The dozen or more questions covering as many subjects were responded to with a quickness, a spontaneity, and a wealth of imagination that were a marvel. We learned that if he had the choice of living in Dublin or Chicago he would sell Chicago and then live in Dublin; that if Ireland passed a prohibition law he would not go back there; that the great dramatists have lived in Ireland or had Irish training; that if he were living in America he would write about 4 o'clock in the morning; that the only time he would not be interfered with; that Irish folk music consists of more than 2,500 pieces. When asked if he believed in fairies, he said that he was convinced from his sighting of the fairies in Chicago that he is inclined to believe that he does believe in fairies.

This interview was followed by a musical program by the competent and versatile Balda A. Ballentine Music Bureau, which, as about every radio listener knows, meant that this was a good musical program. A group of British and Belgian folk songs was an interesting feature on this program.

Lovers of violin music had a full twenty minutes of that form of entertainment from WMAQ at 8:40, in Vincenzo Gullotta, violinist and director of the Rox River Philharmonic orchestra. Lovers of the drama had "She Stoops to Conquer" to laugh over, as given by the very capable WMAQ players at 9.

M. E. BOARD ASKS 'HONEST CITIZENS' TO DRY UP LAND

(Standard Time Throughout.)

Many Problems Are Solved, Is Claim.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Declaring that the leakage from bonded warehouses has been reduced to an insignificant trickle and that home brew has not been a success, the national board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist church, issued a statement today calling on honest citizens to stop the manufacture and sale of moonshine liquor.

With the traffic in moonshine stopped and a law passed by congress giving the prohibition unit control over the production and distribution of industrial alcohol, the board officials believe bone dry enforcement of the Volstead act would be at hand.

Prairie Haynes System.

"Enforcement of the prohibition laws has been an evolution" the board says in its statement. "At first the important problem was the control of bonded liquor left over from license days. Aided by additional legislation, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes has worked out a system so that today almost no real bonded liquor is reaching the bootlegger's hands."

"As real bonded liquor disappeared, the rum fleet appeared and smuggling soon grew to an alarming and irritating proportion. This menace, however, has been greatly reduced and with the addition of specially constructed boats, this smuggling problem will soon disappear. Smuggling

Picturing THE PARK ROW

Individual! It's the one word that describes the Park Row. Designed and tailored exclusively by Ogilvie & Jacobs—Park Row represents a worthy combination of smartness—conservatism—utility. It is but one example of the originality that characterizes our spring assemblage of clothes for men—the finest in our history.

The concert was wonderful, as good as Silvertown Cord Tires. I am riding on a set now over two years old with 22,000 miles on them, and from appearances they will go another 10,000 miles. J. V. P., Detroit, Mich.

Silvertown now means not only a good tire, but also good music, both of which are highly appreciated. H. M., Toledo, Ohio.

We got in at the start of your concert and stuck to the finish. It made me have a feeling in my breast that I am glad I ride on Silvertown Cords. W. H. C., Cristobal, Canal Zone, Panama.

I think that Goodrich Cords are the best on the market. H. B., Hamtramck, Mich.

Your goods travel as well through the air as on the road. F. H. B., Waukegan, Illinois.

I am for Silvertown, whether on the ground or in the air. J. C. P., Oil City, Pa.

Goodrich Tires carried us from New Orleans to California to Chicago and then some. W. C., Chicago, Illinois.

I am purchasing a Silvertown casing today because I know the casing is as good as the orchestra. W. H. K., New Orleans, La.

Your musical programs are very good as are your rubber goods. Mrs. C. J. B., Milwaukee, Wis.

Concerts grand, and no worry when running on Silvertown Cords. Two seasons without a puncture. H. H. P., Jonesboro, Ind.

Have four Silvertown Cord Tires on my Studebaker that have run over 18,000 miles. Two of them have the original South Bend air in them and have never been off the rims, and all are without a pimple. J. J., Holly, Mich.

We were fortunate enough to get Silvertown Cord Tires on our Buick Six 1924 Coupe. We not only sing praise of Silvertown Tires, but add to this our praise of the Silvertown Cord Orchestra. G. S. N., Morehead, Ky.

I am using Silvertown Cord Tires, because I consider them the best. J. E. H., Buffalo, N. Y.

I enjoyed the program very much, especially because you were sponsoring it. My father always uses Silvertown Cords and he says they are the best. He always has good luck with them. Miss S. D., Elgin, Illinois.

Now That We Are Forty

THE men and women who have the good fortune to be making the GOOD HOUSEKEEPING of 1925 had nothing to do with the GOOD HOUSEKEEPING of 1885, but there is nothing in which they take greater pride than to be able to say that through all these forty years—from the days when the magazine was read by a few thousands to the present, when it is being read by millions—there has been no change in policy.

The magazine was started right; all we need today is keep it going right. At the top of the first editorial page of the first GOOD HOUSEKEEPING was printed the slogan, "Conducted in the interests of the higher life of the household." It appeared on every subsequent issue for twenty-six years, when a change in the style of make-up caused the line to be dropped. But by that time the character and purpose of the magazine were so fixed that such an explanation was superfluous.

It would be superfluous today, though the magazine goes to every corner of the globe, for the old purpose is the new purpose that guides the making of each succeeding number. GOOD HOUSEKEEPING is still conducted in the interests of the higher life of the household, with only this difference, that the interests of the household—its higher life—are seen to be far wider than women thought they were a generation ago.

The good housekeeper of that time did not have the far horizon that must be accepted by the good housekeeper of today. In pushing that horizon farther and farther back, GOOD HOUSEKEEPING has had, and will continue to have, its full share—without neglecting anything that helps to make better that center of every woman's universe, her home.

That is why there is never an issue planned today that the old purpose does not guide the editors; amid all the hurly-burly of the day, the "interests of the higher life of the household" is still the biggest interest that it is possible to serve. The problem is, of course, a much more complex one than it was back in the Eighties and Nineties, for most of the interests of the normal family have undergone a complete change since then; and yet the basic interest of every life remains the same: to justify itself to God and man.

To this end one must endeavor to make each day count in the home and elsewhere—to make the home a wee bit better, to make things outside a wee bit cleaner and more upright and more fit to receive the home's chief product, children. From the beginning GOOD HOUSEKEEPING has tried to do its share in this great work.

From Editorial, April Good Housekeeping.

GROWTH

Here is Good Housekeeping Institute at work. It creates all manner of new household ideas, and prosecutes research work which uncovers better methods for every household motion. Its findings, all impartial, are transferred, editorially, to Good Housekeeping readers. It guides more than a million women in buying mechanical household appliances and utensils, from a new type of baking tin to the most complex domestic machinery. These, the Institute uses as they are used in homes—and tests them rigidly for correct working principle, construction, quality of materials, expectation of life. New ways to save work and steps, to cook and bake, better methods of using foods are found. The Institute's endorsement means that all approved merchandise is worth the money, good to buy, good for the housewife to own.

Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health investigates all foods and all toilet preparations for which advertising in our columns is contemplated. Like the Institute, its standard is high. It works without trace to any business practice except unqualified sincerity. Foods are analyzed to determine their purity. Statements on labels are scrutinized to see that they square with the actual content of the package. Extravagant claims are not permitted. Reasonable, truthful declarations are exacted. Artificial colorings must be harmless, and in conformity to the laws of health. Toilet preparations are considered from the same point of view—for like foods, they cannot be cure-alls nor can Good Housekeeping permit its readers to be influenced by any thought save rationalism, editorially nor advertisingly.

Good Housekeeping's Department of Furnishings and Decoration gives, monthly, to its readers inspiration and authentic ideas for making beautiful and more livable, the interiors of homes. Good Housekeeping Studio creates new thought in the use of furnishings, and shows correct designs in furniture. It carries out beautiful, workable treatments in true styles, for every room in the house. Every Good Housekeeping design is original, and conceived by our own staff of interior decorators. In every case, the Studio rooms shown in our pages are built in minute detail on our premises, and given to our readers by accurate photographic reproduction. All furnishings and accessories are selected with infinite care, and every effort is made to make the effects as practical as they are charming.

These are a few of the things which have made Good Housekeeping grow from a mere pamphlet in 1885 to a great educational and informative force in 1925. With physical growth has come a tremendous growth in influence. Toward it has been developed the attitude of complete confidence of more than a million women readers. They know that their favorite publication has but one aim—to print only that which will make for cultured living, finer homes, stronger bodies, clearer thinking. It is gratifying and inspiring to know that its followers vouchsafe this complete confidence in its pages—editorially and advertisingly. It is a satisfaction, not to be measured, to know too that its readers have come to believe, implicitly, any announcement or pronouncement because Good Housekeeping Says So.

Good Housekeeping's fiction is strong, vibrant and aflame with inspiration. It is written by men and women who know life, and really live the stories they tell with such eager and able pens. They are authors of imposing stature in the literary world—and no writer can be too big nor too far away for Good Housekeeping. Noted artists illustrate our stories—with a dash and a realism that is one with cultured hand and unerring brush. Our readers vote our special articles unique—and filled with helpful ideas for every phase of home making and general advancement. Altogether, Good Housekeeping is known far and wide as a treasure-house of entertainment, information and education—a printed companion for the discerning and the particular. It does not follow editorial custom—but creates it.

Fashions—the old world and the new bring to Good Housekeeping the winnowed choice of all that is capital. In Paris, our resident organization, ever watchful, waits the advent of last-moment styles as a runner waits for the crack of the starter's shot to be off and away. In New York are gathered the authentic creations of ranking American modistes. It is Good Housekeeping's business to keep ahead, in giving to its readers in its pages, the smartest developments and clothes creations for women—not merely abreast of things. And the woman who sews for herself and makes her own gowns finds in Good Housekeeping instructions for making dainty personal apparel or clothes for little people—with complete and reliable news as to the materials which are a part of fashion, the spice of life and social activity.

Good Housekeeping is the champion of womanhood, wifehood, motherhood and childhood. This publication has instituted and fought winning battles for legislation favorable to women and the home. It is fighting now, tooth and nail, for laws which will protect those too young to fight for themselves—little Americans who will soon be big Americans. It will fight, always for sane statutes which will benefit future fathers and mothers—who have full right to education—before they go to work. Good Housekeeping believes firmly and unalterably in measures which foster truer citizenship, and it urges its readers to vote for principle rather than for political end. It champions the causes which are right, sound, patriotic and humane, and its counsel counts strongly in every corner of our land.

DEFENSE CLOSES ARGUMENTS IN TEAPOT OIL SUIT

U. S. Failed to Prove Case, Attorney Says.

Chicago, Wyo., March 25.—The defense in the Teapot Dome oil suit closed its case in federal court here today. The defense's case was closed with arguments by Martin W. Littleton, the attorney who won fame as the defender of Harry K. Thaw and Truman W. Newberry.

Mr. Littleton attacked the contention of the government that fraud was used in connection with the turning of the Teapot Dome oil lease over to Harry F. Sinclair and the Mammoth Oil company by Albert B. Fall, when he was secretary of the interior. The government seeks cancellation of the lease.

Littleton launched into a refutation of the government's contention that the terms of the Teapot lease were incompatible with the law under which it was permitted.

For one hour and thirty minutes, he talked—his argument being centered on two points of the case. The first was on the contention of the government that if the terms of the lease were enforced in the matter of exchanging crude oil for fuel oil in storage tanks, it would be illegal because it would have subverted the power of congress in its right to make appropriations for the navy.

Mr. Littleton's second point was on the principle of law which reserves the presumption of good faith in all transactions.

Talks of Fall's Bonds.

Turning then to the government's charge that the defense had been "silent as the tomb" in explaining the connections between liberty bonds held by Fall and their previous ownership by Sinclair, Mr. Littleton said:

"No lawyers would be fit to practice in any court who would expose his client to danger. The government has seen fit to indict Mr. Sinclair. And then they wonder why we do not present evidence to explain something that needs no explaining whatever."

CONFERENCE OF M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH, VOTES AGAINST UNIFICATION

Washington, D. C., March 25.—The Baltimore conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, voted today against unification of the Northern and Southern branches, 141 to 137. The vote was taken without debate.

Proposals for unification originated several years ago when both branches of the church appointed commissions to study the question. The report of a joint commission was adopted by both churches and referred to their constituent bodies for ratification.

Today's was the first vote taken by the more than forty conferences in the M. E. church, South, in the United States. The Cuban conference recently voted unanimously in favor of unification.

The division of the Methodist church was due to the same issues which eventually brought on the civil war. The division centered on the question of slavery. The split came in the conference of 1844. Bishop James Osgood Andrew had, by inheritance and marriage, become a slave holder. After long debate he was asked "to desist from the exercise of the office of bishop while this impediment remained." The southern delegates protested that such a rebuke to a bishop would make it impossible to maintain Methodism in the south. A plan of separation, north and south, was adopted by the conference with almost unanimous vote.

Littleton launched into a refutation of the government's contention that the terms of the Teapot lease were incompatible with the law under which it was permitted.

GIRL MATRICIDE NEAR HYSTERIA IN TRIAL ORDEAL

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—It was no flippant denials of the night life who faced a crowded courtroom here today in 16 year Dorothy Ellington, who killed her mother rather than obey a parental edict to stay away from just one more party. The girl who sat at the bar of justice struggled all day on the border line of hysteria. Once, walking unsupported, she fainted in a corridor outside the court, falling to the marble floor.

Unconscious, she was carried into an anteroom, where her father nursed her tenderly back to consciousness, kissing her pallid face and closed eyes. She was taken to the prison hospital, where she spent the noon hour. She sat through the afternoon session stolidly.

The third day of the murder trial dragged to a close with indications that a jury might be selected some time tomorrow. The girl's attorneys gradually eliminated all the younger men in the jury box and all but two of the women.

BIRTH CONTROL SESSION OPENED BY MRS. SANGER

New York, March 25.—Enlightened physicians, backed by an informed and aroused public opinion, will some day end the situation which still denies legal endorsement and public aid to birth control, the most important social movement of modern times.

Mrs. Margaret Sanger, president of the American Birth Control League, predicted tonight at the opening session of the six day International Birth Control Conference.

Mrs. Sanger referred to America and France as the only countries where the dissemination of birth control information is illegal. She asserted that the movement has "definitely emerged from the atmosphere of radicalism which characterized its early days."

Dr. Charles V. Drysdale of England, president of the conference, and a number of foreign delegates and visitors representing Great Britain, Canada, Germany, Mexico, Denmark, Sweden, Holland, France, Austria, Japan, and other countries were in attendance.

Tomorrow a paper by Havelock Ellis on "Eugenics and Birth Control" will be presented. Harold Cox, editor of the Edinburgh, Scotland, Review, will discuss "A Union of Low Birth Rate Nations," and Dr. Louis L. Dublin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, announced as "representing the opposition," will read a paper on "The Excesses of Birth Control."

Countess Catherine Karolyi, wife of the ex-president of Hungary, is among those who will deliver addresses.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble, and destroys the germs that lead to serious complications.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat diseases and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

HUNGER STRIKER AT JAIL EATS ON PROMISE OF AID

James A. Kinisany, who claims to speak nine languages, and says he was a one time captain in the Russian army, but who now resides in cell No. 855 in the county jail, thought the only way to get his side of the story before the judge who sentenced him to thirty days for contempt of court was to quit eating. He did for two weeks.

He told Chief Clerk Walter Woerts yesterday that he wouldn't eat until he had a talk with the state's attorney. Assistant State's Attorney Robert McMillan satisfied him that his case would be looked into, and his next request was an order for a big steak.

Judge Harry Lewis sentenced him when he beat his wife after the court had issued an injunction restraining him from seeing her pending divorce proceedings. He lost fifty pounds during his starvation period.

Do you believe in trial marriage?

NO? Then learn now that the radio set you buy is also destined to be a "home companion"—to squawk and blare at you or to rest and comfort you after the daily grind.

The man with a good wife, a good car, and a good business will always choose a New Federal because he knows:

1. Each part is designed, made and guaranteed by Federal.
2. Each part is matched—for perfect team-work.
3. Two dials—and only two—control its easy, positive operation.
4. The set is not limited by tubes—any tubes may be used.
5. All precision parts are enclosed in sealed container—as insurance against dust or injury.
6. The final factory test is for tone quality—a big point beyond the mere volume, selectivity and distance range.

Choose the Federal model that fits most perfectly into your home. "Exclusive but not expensive."

The New Federal is made in four beautiful two-tone models, designed to blend with the decorative schemes of better class homes: a table type without loud speaker—a table type with enclosed loud speaker—a complete console with batteries and loud speaker enclosed, and the de luxe console for the palatial home.

A permanent top is an added advantage in the New Federal. The complete set, suspended upon ball bearings, slides out like a drawer for changing tubes, etc. This eliminates the old style lift top and leaves a permanent flat surface for flowers or other decorations.

The Chicago Tribune Brings Success to Women's Wear Shops-

THERE are approximately 500 shops in Chicago selling women's coats, suits and dresses.

The adult feminine population of Chicago is 750,000. In other words, there are three-fourths of a million women purchasers of apparel in Chicago. That means that there would be 1,500 customers to each store, were the patronage evenly divided.

However, patronage never has been and never will be evenly divided. It is a clear case of

The Survival of the Fittest

IN this instance the "survival of the fittest" does not necessarily imply the survival of those showing the best merchandise nor those presenting the greatest values but the survival of those who are best able to endure competition. To withstand the force of competition, a shop must keep in the public eye. There is no more productive medium for gaining this desired publicity than The Chicago Tribune. Ninety-seven women's wear shops have advertised in The Tribune during the past year. That this advertising has accomplished results is evidenced by the constant renewal of contracts.

Every week-day an excess of 600,000 copies of The Tribune go into circulation. On Sundays the circulation is more than a million.

Advertisers in The Tribune are reaching a larger proportion of the Chicago market than it is possible to reach through any other newspaper. Not only does The Tribune reach a greater percentage of Chicago consumers than does any other paper, but it is read by those whose patronage is most to be desired for reasons of wealth, discrimination, and reliability.

1925 promises to be a big year in business. Let us help you to make it the biggest year in the history of your institution by inaugurating a consistent advertising campaign in The Tribune to win new customers and remind old patrons of your readiness to serve. Grow with The Tribune in 1925!

GISH SMILE AND FROWN FLASH IN DUELL TRIAL

Engagement Reference Annoys Film Star.

New York, March 25.—[Special.]—Lillian Gish, movie actress, smiled and frowned through the second day's trial of the suit brought by Charles H. Duell to make her act for his companies alone. She smiled over the discomfiture of her former lawyer when Max Steuer, now her attorney, put him through a sharp cross-examination. She frowned when her alleged engagement to Duell was told about.

Duell, it developed, had her securities placed in his name and also made himself executor for her estate, as well as those of her sister, Dorothy, and her mother, in wills that he drew up for them.

Frowns at Engagement Talk.
She smiled broadly when Mr. Steuer disclosed, in cross-examination, that George W. Newgas, her former counsel, had business dealings with Duell when under retainer from Miss Gish to be her attorney. Her frowns were deepest when Newgas spoke of her engagement to Duell, an engagement denied by the star as "unwarranted presumption."

Thronged far in excess of the capacity of the dimly lit courtroom in the Woolworth building came to hear the case and to see the witnesses. Seated at a table surrounded by a small army of defense counsel, Miss Gish sat through a cross-examination of Newgas that lasted all day. Dressed in a dark blue serge suit, with plaited sleeves and embroidered collar, two strands of her hair falling on her shoulders, she looked more like a schoolgirl than a star of the screen. Much of the time she appeared bored and sat with her chin resting on the palm of her hand.

Duell May Ask Damages.
Damages of at least $100,000 will be demanded of Miss Gish by Mr. Duell in the event the latter wins a permanent injunction restraining her from acting for any other film producer. Col. Holland Duell, his attorney, announced.

The cross-examination developed the fact Miss Gish was persuaded to sign a modification of her contract whereby the splitting point on percentage payments was raised from $300,000 to $600,000 after the three officers in Inspiration Pictures knew the company was to liquidate and would not make any more pictures with Miss Gish as a star. This modification, it was brought out, represented a loss of $60,000 to Miss Gish.

BRITISH TRIBUTE PAID TO CURZON AT WESTMINSTER

Funeral Rite Marked by Simplicity.

BY DON SKENE.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright 1925 by The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, March 25.—England said a formal farewell to one of its greatest statesmen and empire builders when most simple and impressive funeral services were held in historic Westminster abbey for Marquis Curzon today. Representatives of the king and queen and the prince of Wales, the world's diplomatic corps representing kings and presidents; political leaders of all faiths, and intimate and distinguished friends with the widow, three daughters, and other relatives attended.

The simplicity of the abbey rites contrasted strikingly with the many famous splendid ceremonies of India, where Lord Curzon was a glittering figure as Great Britain's viceroy.

France Sends Flowers.
A motor hearse brought the coffin from Lord Curzon's home to the abbey between long ranks of humble mourners. The coffin was made of aged oak grown on Lord Curzon's ancestral estate at Kedleston and was surmounted with a great cross of red roses. A second automobile followed in which were piled flowers and wreaths, of which the most notable included a wreath of old English flowers from Stratford on Avon, and a magnificent mass of roses from the French republic.

A third car carried Lord Curzon's medals, decorations, and orders pinned to purple cushions.

During the abbey services the coffin rested between effigies of Gladstone and Disraeli. After the service the coffin was taken to St. Pancras station, where it was placed on a special train for Kedleston, where the final obsequies and interment will take place tomorrow.

Notable Pallbearers.
The pallbearers today were Prime Minister Baldwin, Lord Chancellor Cave, Speaker Whitely, former Prime Minister MacDonald, the Earl of Oxford and Asquith, the Marquis of Salisbury, Winston Churchill, and the Earl of Birkenhead.

Burial tomorrow will be in the family vault under Kedleston church, where a beautiful white marble monument was erected to Lady Curzon, his first wife and the daughter of Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago, after her death in 1906.

A Young Man Who Was "All In"

He was the active, ambitious kind of fellow that we call a "corner."

He had a good job and was in line for promotion. His future as one of the big men of his house was regarded as certain.

But, a time came when he seemed to have lost his ambition and alertness. He appeared worried and preoccupied, he was forgetful, neglected his work and made inexcusable errors.

"Better let him out," said one of the officers of the company. "We can't stand for a man like that. He's 'all in.' Let's get a live one."

But the wise old General Manager said, "Leave him to me. Maybe I can pull him back again. He's got the right stuff in him and I think I know what ails him."

"John," he said at an interview in his private office, "you are slipping and if you don't 'buck up' pretty soon, we'll have to let you go. Something has gone wrong with you. Tell me frankly and confidentially what you have to say about it. I'll help you if you will let me."

In less than twenty words John told his secret trouble.

"I thought so," said the General Manager. "Now take my advice. See a doctor at once, and let him put you in good shape again. If you will do that, we'll keep you on for a while longer and see how you come out. But you must do it right away. You are headed for a mighty serious time if you let this thing run on, and certainly you will have to improve in your work soon or we will tell you to look for another job."

John is again setting the pace for the office. He is cured of a disease which would have ruined both his health and his career. The advice he got at that interview showed him the folly of temporizing with a "social" disease.

If all who have contracted venereal infections could be advised as wisely as that young man was or if they could only realize how sure is the destruction these diseases bring to health, happiness, success and even to life itself, we would see fewer physical and mental wrecks. No infected person would delay taking treatment.

None would dare to face the prospect of paralysis, locomotor ataxia, insanity, chronic rheumatism, heart disease, blindness, kidney and liver diseases and other disorders which result directly from these scourges.

The Public Health Institute was organized and is conducted for the special purpose of treating "social" diseases by the methods which have been found most effective. It has helped thousands of venereally diseased people to recover their health and is now giving about 1000 treatments daily. To anyone suffering from one of these infections, the Institute offers the services of trained physicians at fees so moderate that this efficient treatment is available to people of even the smallest incomes. No one, in fact, is turned away for lack of ready money. The charges are the same to all.

No patient pays more than another for the same service.

The Institute was organized not for profit, and all of its income is used in giving treatments, doing research work and providing proper facilities for serving its patients.

If you have reason to believe that you have contracted a venereal infection, do not try to cure yourself with "patent" medicines or with prescriptions borrowed from friends. Do not delay treatment in the hope that the disease may "run out." "Social" diseases do not "run out"—they always grow more serious if let alone.

Have You a Puzzling Ailment?

Venereal infections often produce forms of disease which make it difficult for any but a doctor to discover the real cause. If you have an ailment that is puzzling and persistent, either constant or periodic, you should have an examination and tests made to discover its source. If a "social" disease is responsible for the trouble, treatment should be begun immediately.

Women and Children

A special department for women and children, with women as physicians and assisting as nurses and attendants, is located at 72 East Randolph Street. Every facility is provided here for effective treatment, and the utmost privacy with the highest degree of comfort is assured.

With such service as this available, no one who needs treatment should delay. "Social" diseases can be cured.

BAN ON DEMPSEY ENDS DICKERING FOR WILLS BOUT

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are:
At New York—Old Terry beat Lew Kaine (10).
At Tompkins, O.—Harry Kramer knocked out Eddie Wergandi (3).

New York, March 25.—(Special.)—The one definite, positive effect of the state athletic commission's action in placing Jack Dempsey upon the ineligible list has been to cause an abrupt end to the long-drawn-out negotiations between the two camps for a world's heavyweight championship match for the current outdoor season in the metropolitan battle area.

Promoters representing the New York City and Charles Henderson for the proposed Long Island City stadium—have dropped their Dempsey bout plans like hot coals, fearful lest they be disciplined by the commission for carrying on negotiations with a champion in disfavor.

Seek Wills-Gibbons Go.
The ineligibility of Dempsey has cleared the way for a bout between Harry Wills and Tom Gibbons if the Negro challenger cares to undertake this match, but so far could be learned today no definite arrangements have been made on this proposition. The milk fund officials want this match as the feature for their charity boxing card planned for the Yankee stadium on May 29. Promoter Henderson is eager to get the match and hold it for the benefit of the milk fund at his proposed Long Island City stadium. In boxing circles today a report was circulated that a Wills-Gibbons match is improbable, although no concrete reason for this proposed match could be ascertained by diligent investigation. Contradicting this report, however, was the announcement of Promoter Rickard that he had been in telephonic communication with Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, who requested information on the progress of plans for Wills' services in the proposed Yankee stadium milk fund feature.

Tex Won't Risk Ban.
Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, had nothing to say or to add to what he has already said concerning the "champion" and his difficult situation. Rickard said that he had done nothing definite. He plans to confer with Mullins within a few days in an effort to straighten out the existing situation. Rickard took occasion to report that he intends to observe the commission's edict against promoters having negotiations with ineligible or suspended champions to the letter. The promoter added that he has no intention of courting suspension or revocation of the Madison Square Garden corporation boxing license in this state through conducting negotiations with Dempsey for a match in Jersey City.

DUNDEE STILL UNDER BAN BY FRENCH COMISH

PARIS, March 25.—(By Associated Press.)—The French Boxing federation officials today expressed surprise that Johnny Dundee had been permitted to engage in a boxing bout in the United States before the French federation's suspension of him was lifted. They are cabling the boxing authorities in America for additional details.

Dundee on March 23 fought a ten round bout in Boston against "Red" Chapman. He was suspended by the French federation for failing to remain in France some time ago to fight Fred Brettonel.

Paul Roussin, president of the French federation, says he has letters from the National Boxing union and the New York state athletic commission informing him that Dundee was suspended indefinitely by both organizations.

MUNN OFFERED $100,000 TOUR

Kansas City, Mo., March 25.—Wayne Munn, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, has received an offer from an eastern syndicate to tour Europe, his manager, Gus Kaufmann, announced tonight.

Kaufmann added Munn probably would accept the contract under which the college athlete would receive $100,000 for three months of exhibition matches. The champion would sail the middle of April.

DEMPSEY RULING.
RULING of the New York state athletic commission placing Champion Jack Dempsey on the ineligible list has no teeth in it. Dempsey is not in New York, and, anyway, does not want to fight at this time. If he later obeys the mandate to meet Harry Wills, the commission will lift his ineligibility.

Despite lack of permanent penalty, which to some critics makes the ruling a joke, it serves a purpose. It calls public attention to the fact that Wills, whether or not deserving a bout on his record, has been practically ignored for a period of years. We think Jack's stated reasons for not meeting the commission because of the absence of a referee, but the fact remains that Wills has not had a crack at the title. He is the only heavy with vestige of claim to such right who has not been accommodated with a mauling.

The question, perhaps, is whether a title is the holder's private property to do with as he pleases, or whether it is something bestowed by the public which should have a say other than at the box office. Because of the absence of a referee, the ruling body for boxing champions often do as they will with their titles.

Any sport is better administered under a central control, if strictly impartial. While the Wills has not always sympathized with some of the comical New York rulings, we think the commission is accomplishing something. It is handicapped because its power is local. At any rate, Champion Jack, Manager Kearns, and the public know there is such a person as Harry Wills.

TOOTS STARTS DRILL TO WRESTLE MUNN

Joe Mondt, who will meet Wayne Munn for the world's heavyweight championship at the Coliseum Tuesday night, arrived in Chicago yesterday and established training headquarters at the Arcade.

Mondt is training for this contest in much the same manner that a boxing champion prepares for a championship match. "Toots" goes on the road each morning and will do from five to eight miles in Grant park daily for the remainder of the week. He has four wrestling partners.

Present plans call for Munn to be in Chicago on Saturday morning. He intended to work at Muller's on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday afternoons. Wayne will be guest of honor at luncheon tendered by the Irish Fellowship club on Saturday, and at night will attend a testimonial given in his honor by the Illinois Fish and Game club at its headquarters in Lincoln park.

Promoters Krone and Cutler have decided to use Richard Schikatz, the German grappler, in the semi-windup.

John Bricken, who is matched to meet Richard Schikatz in the feature of the wrestling bouts at the Star and Carter tomorrow night, is looked upon as a capable wrestler by those who watch him train at the Arcade.

He is a product of John Freher and knows a lot about the American style of grappling. Hans Bauer and Antonio Felix will clash in the other contest.

Local wrestling promoters are planning to stage a mat show at the Coliseum early next month for the benefit of the tornado sufferers in southern Illinois and Indiana. James Barlow, Richard Barnett, Richard Condon, John Thomas, William R. Stewart, Frank Weston, and C. P. Hamaker are among some of the prominent Chicago sports fans who already have agreed to serve upon the promotion committee.

Gibbons-Tunney Bout Likely to Be Arranged Here Today

Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul heavyweight, and Gene Tunney, the American light heavyweight champion, probably will be matched today to meet in a fifteen round decision bout in the Polo grounds at New York on June 12.

Jimmy De Forest, matchmaker for the Polo grounds, will be in Chicago today to confer with Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons, regarding the match. Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney, was in Chicago last week and at that time asserted he had accepted terms for the Gibbons match. If De Forest's offer is satisfactory to Kane the match will be closed today.

The bout will be the feature of the show being arranged for the Italian hospital fund. Manager Kane had partially agreed to permit Tom to appear in the milk fund show, but as nothing definite has been done regarding a match for Gibbons, the contest with Tunney will be made if a satisfactory agreement can be reached between De Forest and Kane.

The American light heavyweight title will not be at stake, as no weight limit is made. Manager Kane asserted Tunney can have his American championship because he claims the world's heavyweight title for Gibbons. If Gibbons is matched with Tunney, Manager Kane asserted Tom will settle down to active training early next month.

Tunney and Manager Billy Gibson are in St. Paul, where Gene will step ten rounds with Harry Greb, boss of the middleweights, tomorrow night. Gibbons will be a spectator, and Manager Kane may hop an evening rattler to take in the show. Several Chicagoans will make the trip to see the two champions in action.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crown, P. A. Nash, Ald. Albert Horan, Martin O'Brien, Representative Ben Michael, and State Senator John T. Denvir, and Edward Bradley, among those on the committee which will have charge of the fund realized from the athletic show at St. Phillips on Monday night. All proceeds will go into the relief fund for sufferers in the storm areas of Illinois and Indiana.

Among some of the well known stars in boxing and wrestling who will appear at Tom Gibbons, Sammy Mandell, Jack Malone, Eddie Anderson, Wayne Munn, Joe "Toots" Mondt, Mike Romano, Lou Talar, Johnny Meyers, and John Freher.

Vivanco Gyurgan, a Filipino amateur, who is a fellow-townsmen of Peter Sarmiento and who is studying law in Chicago, will be among the leading boxers to appear at the weekly amateur show at Muller's on Monday night. George Gardner Jr. will meet John Jett. Ten other bouts complete the program.

522 DOGS BENCHED AT 24TH ANNUAL SHOW

Champions, near champions, and just plain "daws" were assembled at the First Regiment armory yesterday for the twenty-fourth annual dog show of the Chicago Kennel club.

It was the largest collection of all breeds ever shown in Chicago, and from a standpoint of class was the equal of any show held in the country. The total of 522 dogs were entered 757 times and represented all sections of the country east of the Mississippi river and Canada.

A touch of the frozen north was given the city when Edward B. Clark unleashed his team of huskies, famous for their racing in Canada, from a Michigan Central train and drove them to the armory.

Keen competition is expected among the chows, Alsatians, terriers, Boston terriers, collies, fox terriers (wire), Pomeranians, Irish setters, shepherds, and cocker spaniels, as the leading aristocrats of the nation are in the field.

The program for today, subject to change, however, by the bench show committee, follows:
11 a. m.—Judge, T. S. Bellin; St. Bernards, toy black and tan terriers, Russian wolf hounds, placers (wire hair), Alsatians, Pomeranians.
2 p. m.—Judge, Guy P. Hornish; bulldogs, English setters, fox terriers (smooth), Pomeranians.
5 p. m.—Judge, Edwin L. Pichardt; collies, St. Bernards, Irish setters, shepherds, and cocker spaniels.

DOCTOR FINDS CURRY DID NOT BREAK HIS HAND

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 25.—The Wisconsin boxing commission announced today that X-ray pictures of Connie Curry's right hand, which he said was broken in the first round of his match with Peter Sarmiento here Monday night, failed to show a fracture.

Testing to see if the seed corn will germinate has become a common practice among corn belt farmers. Up to date farmers no longer take a chance with their seed corn; they test it, and many of them have learned that it even pays to go to the trouble of testing the seed corn before using them for seed.

Gardeners who are not familiar with the test often think of it as a means of determining whether corn will sprout or not, but scientists have developed it to the point where it is now easy to detect the dead, nongerminating kernels, and also the moldy or weak seed. The kernels may sprout, but the seedlings often die within a few days before or after the plant breaks through the soil.

BOXING LAW TEST TO RESULT FROM MANDELL BENEFIT

BILL UP IN HOUSE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 25.—Ten round decision boxing bouts would be authorized in Illinois by a bill introduced in the house by Representative L. M. Green of Rockford today. The measure provides for a boxing commission to be appointed by the governor for the control of the sport in the state.

Rockford, Ill., March 25.—Although he and his brother Joe were placed under peace bonds of $500 each here this afternoon, Sammy Mandell proceeded with a storm benefit athletic show planned for tonight without further interference.

Five ministers signed the complaint under the Illinois boxing law which placed Sammy under peace bonds for "contemplating a boxing exhibition."

Sammy boxed with his brother Joe, the Chicago southpaw, at the Franklin Hotel about $100 for the storm fund. It was a social occasion, most of the audience being composed of prominent men and women.

Sammy Boxer Brother. Sammy boxed with his brother Joe, the Chicago southpaw, at the Franklin Hotel about $100 for the storm fund. It was a social occasion, most of the audience being composed of prominent men and women.

Thomas Gill, Sammy's attorney, will fight the peace bond on an appeal taken to Circuit court on the grounds the boxing law indicates further action under the bond should be taken under the breach of the peace act which does not include holding a boxing exhibition as a violation of the act.

He also will attack the constitutionality of the boxing law on the ground the constitution does not give the legislature power to prohibit actions not in themselves illegal. He contends the legislature has power only to regulate.

FARM AND GARDEN

SPACE and time are too valuable for either city or farm gardeners to take the chance of planting sweet corn for roasting ears without first testing every ear fully to see if the kernels will grow.

Testing to see if the seed corn will germinate has become a common practice among corn belt farmers. Up to date farmers no longer take a chance with their seed corn; they test it, and many of them have learned that it even pays to go to the trouble of testing the seed corn before using them for seed.

Gardeners who are not familiar with the test often think of it as a means of determining whether corn will sprout or not, but scientists have developed it to the point where it is now easy to detect the dead, nongerminating kernels, and also the moldy or weak seed. FABER SHOWS IS READY AS GRAB 11-7

SOCKING THE P

CHICAGO, March 25.—(Special.)—The one definite, positive effect of the state athletic commission's action in placing Jack Dempsey upon the ineligible list has been to cause an abrupt end to the long-drawn-out negotiations between the two camps for a world's heavyweight championship match for the current outdoor season in the metropolitan battle area.

Promoters representing the New York City and Charles Henderson for the proposed Long Island City stadium—have dropped their Dempsey bout plans like hot coals, fearful lest they be disciplined by the commission for carrying on negotiations with a champion in disfavor.

Seek Wills-Gibbons Go.
The ineligibility of Dempsey has cleared the way for a bout between Harry Wills and Tom Gibbons if the Negro challenger cares to undertake this match, but so far could be learned today no definite arrangements have been made on this proposition.

Despite lack of permanent penalty, which to some critics makes the ruling a joke, it serves a purpose. It calls public attention to the fact that Wills, whether or not deserving a bout on his record, has been practically ignored for a period of years.

Any sport is better administered under a central control, if strictly impartial. While the Wills has not always sympathized with some of the comical New York rulings, we think the commission is accomplishing something.

Nothing a Week Rewards the Wife with Fifty Jobs

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A reader has been married eight years. She has three children. She confesses that in those eight years she has done every bit of work that has been done around home. She has made the children's clothes and her own; she has done the washing, scrubbing, cleaning, baking, and every extra of the fifty or more odd jobs that a home and children require to be done by some one.

She is a woman of education, she writes. She won a scholarship in music, sings, and had some years' experience in the business world before marrying.

For her devotion to her job at home she is paid the magnificent sum of nothing a week by the despot whose name she bears. She has never had a nickel she has not had to ask for, and every time she has asked for money there has been a scene.

Recently, after four years of service, her winter coat began to be replaced by something less shabby. She bought one. When her husband saw it there followed a quarrel, and the wife walked out of the home after her emphasized disapproval of her extravagance with a couple of blows. He earns $75 a week and in addition picks up quite a few dollars in a side business he carries on.

Well, perhaps realising after she left him that he could not get another slave to do what she did, he pursued her and offered her in a reconciliation contract $5 a week, out of which she was to pay the rent, $5 a month, doctors' bills, clothing for herself and children—everything, in fact, in the way of expense necessary for the house, herself, and children. Out of feeling for the children and their right to a home she came back.

A few months later, without conferring with the wife at all, he reduced her allowance to $30 a week. This followed a purchase of a piece of furniture for the home that she had managed somehow to accomplish out of her allowance.

Her little girl has been ill and now the woman is waiting the day of her complete recovery, when she intends to get out and find an employer who pays a fair wage and who pays it without quarrels and blows. She couldn't do any worse as an employer, she figures, and with her education and previous experience in business she is sure it won't be long before she will be doing it, better, not only by herself but by her children.

When you read letters like that—and they are not unique in being occasional in my mail—you wonder why wives don't form a union, demanding so much pay for so many hours. If a man won't treat his wife as a fifty-fifty partner and split evenly with her, then there ought to be some authority to regulate him and make him pay her a salary. "Where isn't any more reason why such women should have to approach humbly their husbands for five, ten, or twenty dollars than that the husband should be forced to approach his employer in like frame for money he has earned.

Curiously enough, if couples are divorced, wives can collect a goodly share of their husband's income by the alimony process. If they separate they can make their husbands pay so much per week out of their incomes. If the husband doesn't support the wife she can have him arrested and sentenced to hard labor. But the wife who is faithfully performing her duties in home making, which may include fifty occupations—cook, waitress, upstairs maid, nurse, physician, plumber, seamstress, scrubwoman, washerwoman, and so forth—there is nothing legally to be done about it, except women are getting wise to the fact one does not he did not recognize me. Would you please tell me how I can renew my friendship with him?" A. D.

It was your place to speak to him when you saw him, dear. It may be that you have changed so in the two years you were away that he did not recognize you, and again he naturally would not expect to see you. If you were good friends before you went away, call him up and ask him to come over to see you, dear.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

A Ham Sandwich.

Thomas J. Murray, who was rather famous half a century ago as a promoter of good eating, and a writer of many books to promote it, says, under the subject of "ham sandwich," "One would imagine that any one could make a ham sandwich without instructions from books, but such is not the case. We find more poor and ill made ham sandwiches at restaurants and private parties than any other article of food; the only reason I can give for it is carelessness. The fat should be trimmed off and the meat cut into thin, even slices, instead of wedge-shape. It should contain three or four small PIECES OF MEAT INSTEAD OF ONE LARGE SLICE THAT LEAVES THE SANDWICH THE FIRST MOMENT THE SANDWICH IS TAKEN. MUSTARD MAY BE USED, BUT AT LARGE GATHERINGS A FEW SANDWICHES SHOULD BE MADE WITHOUT BUTTER OR MUSTARD."

Mr. Murray advises four strips of ham to each sandwich, and speaks of pressing them together. One of the reasons why ham sandwiches have become rather low grade, and no longer thought fine enough for parties, has been because they could not be pressed together well. Thin slices of ham cut into inch square pieces make a fine sandwich if the meat has been well cooked, and some sweet thing may be combined with them, like a bit of candied pineapple or ginger. When made

IN THIS WAY THEY MAY THEN BE CUT ACROSS IN FINGER SLICES.

One thing they did not do in Mr. Murray's time was to cream the butter when about to prepare sandwiches. It is as worth while as when making cake. Creamed butter to be served with baked potatoes may come to the table as a sauce. It may be plain or variously seasoned.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or newspaper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unsuitable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. A. M. Bright, Sayings to Auntie, Mrs. Tribune, Chicago.

When Frankie awoke one morning and glanced out the window he noticed everything was covered with snow. The previous day had been a rainy one, threatening snow.

When Frankie had satisfied himself that the glorious snow was really here and not in dreamland he sought out his mother and eagerly explained, "Mother, I was looking for this snow, 'cause I knew it was up in the sky yesterday with the rain." I. S. T.

I take my daughter to Sunday school, and usually stay until she is ready to go home. After the classes have assembled in the large room the superintendent, on one particular Sunday, admonished the children to go on time.

Next Sunday had not started yet. The tailor who usually repairs my clothes on Saturday had failed to get the suit I intended to wear, and that had made me a little late arriving at the church.

To my utter astonishment and dismay, I heard Betty piping "My dress had to be ironed today, but I try not to be late any more."

Junior League Girls to Give Gay Tones to Woman's World

BY NANCY R.

In spite of the seriousness of the world fair into existence, you have forgotten, have you, that it is the Junior League girls who are to give gay tones to the week of April 12-13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1925.

For example, the Junior League girls have been enlisted, as young members are to dress in gay costumes, to sell balloons, to make street toys and to do other things that will be fun and interesting to the fair.

There is a lengthy one, run alphabetically—from Mrs. Robert Adams, through some three dozen more to Mrs. Paul Winslow. On the list of names, they will be listed in alphabetical order of their names.

Then there's a dance to be given at the Parliam sidewalk restaurant, where the devotees of the fair may find amusement even if they are not going to the fair. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Winslow are to be the featured dancers in the dance.

Manufacturers' Finance Company

(A Delaware Corporation) BALTIMORE

Ten-Year 6% Collateral Trust Gold Notes, Series "A"

To be dated April 1, 1923

To mature April 1, 1933

Interest payable April 1 and October 1, without deduction for normal Federal Income Tax on income of 3%. The Company will agree to reimburse the holders of these notes if they receive within 30 days after payment in the manner provided in the Trust Agreement for the Connecticut four mill tax, Pennsylvania four mill tax, Maryland four and one-half mill tax, District of Columbia five mill tax, and the Massachusetts Income Tax on the basis of the Corporation's income in the year in which the interest is payable. Redeemable at the option of the Company at any time and from time to time at a price of 100% of the principal plus interest on the principal at the rate of 6% per annum on the first day of each succeeding year.

The Baltimore Trust Company, Baltimore, Maryland, Trustee

Principal and Interest payable at the office of Commerce Trust Company, Baltimore, or The Bank of America, New York

Sole agent as summarized by Mr. V. G. Cunningham, President of the Manufacturers' Finance Company:

BUSINESS: The Manufacturers' Finance Company is one of the oldest of the so-called non-notification commercial banking companies in the United States, and has been in successful operation since its inception in 1910. The Company owns all the Common Beneficial Interest Shares of the Manufacturers' Finance Trust, which conducts a similar business in the State of Illinois and surrounding territory, with headquarters in Chicago.

About 80% of the volume of business of the Company and the Trust consists of the purchase of open accounts, acceptances, drafts and notes receivable from reliable manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers representing widely diversified industries. The balance of the volume consists of automobile and installment loans and mortgages. The seller of the accounts receivable guarantees the payment of same for 100% of the face value, although advances are made to the seller of not more than 80% of the net face value of the account so purchased. The balance is withheld until the collection of the total amount.

The percentage of loss since organization has averaged less than 1/5 of 1% of the accounts, etc., purchased.

SECURITY: The Series "A" Notes and the short term Collateral Trust Notes issued by the Manufacturers' Finance Company, from time to time, to its depository and other banks are direct obligations of the Company secured exactly alike, ratably and without preference by the identical revolving, self-liquidating open commercial accounts, acceptances, drafts, notes or installment or motor lien or mortgage obligations deposited with or assigned to the Trustee or Trustees at the rate of $120 of such open commercial accounts, acceptances, drafts, notes or installment or motor lien or mortgage obligations for each $100 of cash or bank certificates of deposit, for each $100 of the total of the Series "A" Notes and such short term notes then outstanding.

The security behind these notes will therefore be as follows:

1—A margin of 20% in the value of the collateral (other than cash and/or bank certificates of deposit) over and above the amount of notes outstanding.

2—A minimum margin of 20% in capital, surplus and undivided profits.

3—The collateral will consist of the obligations of many purchasers in diversified industries.

4—These purchase obligations are generally bank or commercial notes or guarantees or contain a repurchase agreement of the customers from whom the obligations were purchased.

The Manufacturers' Finance Company's capital, surplus and undivided profits total about $5,000,000.

The assets of the Company are practically self-liquidating, and the average life of the receivables purchased is four months or less. As an indication of the liquid character of the business, it is to be noted that the average monthly borrowings during 1922 could have been retired within thirty days by the application of the average monthly cash receipts plus the average cash on hand.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds from the sale of this issue of notes will be used for the reduction of current loans and for the expansion of the business.EARNINGS: Volume of business and net earnings of the Manufacturers' Finance Company for the past nine years, including business of the Manufacturers' Finance Trust since organization and the earnings of the Trust accruing to the parent company, were as follows (the column showing times interest earned being based on interest actually paid or accrued):

Year	Volume of Business	Net Earnings Before Interest	Interest Paid or Accrued	Times Interest Earned	% Earned on Common Stock

SINKING FUND: The Company agrees, on each semi-annual interest payment date, beginning October 1, 1923, to pay to the Trustee in cash or to deliver to the Trustee in Series "A" Notes, or partly in cash and partly in Series "A" Notes, an amount equivalent to 2% of the greatest amount of Series "A" Notes issued at any time, not counting Series "A" Notes theretofore paid at maturity, or redeemed otherwise than out of Sinking Fund monies. The Series "A" Notes so delivered to the Trustee shall be canceled, and the cash paid to the Trustee shall be used to purchase Series "A" Notes to the extent available, at a price not exceeding 105% and interest until April 1, 1933, thereafter at a price not exceeding 101 and interest until April 1, 1934, and thereafter at a price not exceeding 100 and interest until maturity. Funds not used for this purpose within thirty days after the date such funds are received by the Trustee shall revert to the Company.

Price 99 and interest, to yield over 6 1/2%

These notes are offered when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of the legality of the same by Messrs. Smith & Smith, of Baltimore, for the Company, and by Messrs. Venable, Baile & Howard, of Baltimore, for the Bankers.

$90 PER MONTH AND UP FOR SPACE IN TRIBUNE TOWER

At this nominal cost a limited number of representatives of publishers, manufacturers, and financial interests can secure choice location in a new building that has an excellent reputation before its completion.

It is here that the advertiser can get the best results from his ad campaign because of the floor space from which the advertiser's message will have the same benefits of light, heat, and circulation as the Tribune's circulation of 1,000,000.

The new Tribune Tower was built up to an old and not down to a new price, and the best available advertising space is available at the lowest price brought to this work.

It is here that the civilized world can get back pride in the statement: "We are the best." The Tribune Tower, Chicago.
